

WE NOMINATE

Edgar Mills Gemmell, one of the able educational administrators of his time and a lifelong practitioner of the "sciences and arts of public communication," whose announced retirement from the Administrative Vice-Presidency of Princeton University, effective next June 30, ranks among the major news developments of the week (see Topics of the Town, page 10). After a decade of shouldering responsibility for the University's external relationships, including all facets of its fund-raising operations, the 53-year old Gemmell will be embarking upon a "new career" as an independent consultant to educational institutions and volunteer service organizations.

This past Tuesday from President Robert F. Goheen came the announcement that "the University's Trustees have accepted with great regret, and certainly with understandable reluctance, Mr. Gemmell's decision to relinquish the post in which he has served Princeton with such distinction." Dr. Goheen's statement, citing Gemmell's "leadership and creativity" in the fields of communications, public relations and fund-raising, underscored Gemmell's imaginative planning and direction of Princeton's $53-million capital gifts campaign, that produced some $61 million in three years and has since been used as a "blueprint" by literally dozens of American schools, colleges and universities.

Gemmell, New York-born and a member of the Princeton Class of 1934, first returned to the University in 1939 and in 1939-1942, as Secretary of the Princeton University Fund, was instrumental in organizing and launching Princeton's alumni-directed Annual Giving Program, which over the past 25 years has produced nearly $19 million in unrestricted, expendable funds and this winter is seeking a record-breaking $2.2 million. In 1954, following 7 years as adviser and consultant on communications and community relations to the top management of the DuPont empire, he was called back to Princeton to fill the then newly created post of Administrative Secretary.

First as Administrative Secretary and since 1959, as Administrative Vice President, Gemmell has helped establish and shape a number of distinctive programs, ranging from meticulously planned orientation sessions for alumni to the Princeton University Conference, that each year sponsors a far-ranging series of conferences with the primary objective of strengthening communication between the University and representatives of industry, government and higher education. To Gemmell belongs credit for the founding in 1959 of "University," an excellent quarterly magazine, currently distributed to some 24,000 Graduate School alumni, Princeton parents and friends of the University.

In recent years Gemmell, a naval veteran of World War II and a driving-force in the development of the Princeton Association for Human Rights, has been constantly sought as a consultant to schools, colleges, educational foundations and philanthropic undertakings. For the past two years, for instance, he has been a consultant to the Lincoln Center for the Performing Arts, New York City, and this past October was released by the University to direct a nation-wide study of The United Negro College Fund, a searching analysis of the dollar needs of 33 Negro colleges implemented by a grant from the Carnegie Corporation.

For seeking in "young middle age" to serve human enterprises urgently needing the kind of guidance he can provide; for his achievements as the most successful fund-raiser in this community's recorded history; for understanding that the essence of effective administration is the "support of others"; he is our nominee as

SNOW IS MINOR

But Plenty Of It. It wasn't a real snowstorm — only eight inches. It was, however, the heaviest snowfall in any 24-hour period since January 19, 1961, according to the Trenton weather bureau. (They had nine inches there.)

Here in Princeton, snow began to fall about 7:30 Sunday morning, continued picturesquely all day with very little wind (five miles an hour) and stopped with a gracious bow at 9:15 Sunday night.

"It was unexpected," says David Ludlum, Princeton's unofficial weatherman. "We thought it would stay south, in Virginia and Maryland. We were really very lucky: Nantucket had a heavy snowfall, and it rained hard in Atlantic City. The storm center was about 250 miles southeast of Princeton, having moved northeast from Cape Hatteras."

Uninvited Guest. "Unexpected" is the word: at 10 a.m. Saturday, it was a nice 61 degrees and wags were saying that we certainly had had a short winter. Precisely 24 hours later, at 10 a.m. Sunday, it was a brisk 31 degrees and the wags were shoveling snow off the walk. The wind went to the northeast, and that's what did it.

It was a light-weight snow, Mr. Ludlum points out. In fact, it was the kind of snow that starts the old folks grumbling about how it was in the old days when school never closed on account of weather.

Borough, Township and private schools closed all day Monday, acting on a decision made about 9:45 Sunday night. Dr. Chester R. Stroup, Borough superintendent of schools, keeps on top of weather bureaus the moment it starts to snow.

He calls all of his sending district superintendents and asks them whether their buses will be able to get through. Left alone, of course, the Borough would probably never close its schools. But outlying sending districts have drifted back roads to think of, and so Dr. Stroup places his calls.

How's the Driving? Dr. John McKenna, Township superintendent, is one of those in close touch with Dr. Stroup, checking with police on road conditions in the Township, conferring with bus drivers. The decision had to be made on Sunday night, because the bus drivers start out about 7 in the morning, and it's too difficult to notify drivers and teachers that late.

On Sunday night, three townships — Montgomery, West Windsor and Hopewell — told Dr. Stroup they wouldn't be able to get their buses out, and so Dr. Stroup decided "no."

Running a 1700-pupil high school with more than 300 students absent would be folly:

the teachers would simply have to go over everything the next day for those who had missed. The Borough has three extra "snow days" built into its calendar. State law requires a 180-day school year, and it works out better academically to have the full extra day in June than to have skinny classes after a storm.

Following a long standing agreement, Princeton's private schools always close when the public schools do. Makes life easier.

With Princeton, there was very little slowdown because of the storm. One owner of a small car, stuck in the snow on Moore Street, illegally left his car "parked" all night with a big sign on it explaining in detail that he was "sorry!" Who's sorry? Next morning, he found a ticket on his windshield.

Shovel That Snow!

Brushing the snow from his topcoat, Borough Administrator Robert Mooney came to work Monday morning with a word for Borough property-owners:

You must shovel the snow from your sidewalk within 12 daylight hours after the snow has stopped falling. Or else.

Township property owners must also shovel snow, but they have 24 hours after the last flake has fallen.

BUDGET TOPS $2 MILLION

For Borough Schools. The Borough of Education has pegged its proposed 1965-66 budget at $2,199,549, an increase of $246,886 over the current year.

The net amount to be raised by the Borough is $27,509.57, or $8,996.03 more.

The school board is working its way through a complexity of problems: increased enrollment, the need for more classrooms, teachers for the classrooms, the uncertainties of the continuing relationship with Montgomery Township and Hopewell Borough, the voice of school separation heard in Princeton Township and the converse voice of municipal consolidation.

"Three factors," Board President Graham Rohrer said, in announcing the budget, made us play it completely safe. We have the number of pupils in school that we anticipated. We knew this huge was going to happen, but we had to protect the Borough against the possibility of the Township's leaving."

Instant Classrooms. As a temporizing measure, the Board has allocated $20,000 for the rental of six pre-fabricated classrooms for the high school. The location of the colonial-

"THE LARGER ISSUES IN THE COMMUNITY have caused the Borough Board of Education to hedge its 1965-66 budget, President Graham Rober (center) said at Saturday's budget discussions. Attending the session were (from left) William H. Rhodes secretary to the Board; Mrs. Sarah Strayer, board member; Superintendent Chester R. Stroup and William K. Evans, former finance chairman who resigned from the Board a few weeks ago. He becomes school business manager on February 1.

type units depends upon Planning Board approval. The Board favors an L-shaped structure alongside the girl's gym on the Moore Street side of the high school.

Superintendent Chester Stroup termed the temporary housing "attractive enough to receive State Department of Education approval—although we are not considering this a permanent installation. This is not temporary housing for 25 years!" He noted that in Newark, where school population fluctuates the units have proved invaluable.

The Board explored staggered sessions at the high school, shortened class periods, renting space at the Choir College (over-crowded), Calvary Baptist Church (rooms too small), Riverside School and the costs of building as addition to the high school.

More Pupils, More Staff. Also in the budget is 37,000 allotted for three more teachers, a coordinator for the new work-study program at the high school and a school business manager. A total of 79,600 for professional salaries (includes non-teachers is included in the budget increases.

Added costs listed include $15,000 for the sabbatical leave program, designed to keep teachers from stagnating; $3,800 for a major medical program for all salaried employees (which has been worked out in conjunction with the Township) and an additional $5,495 for the business education department which will offer more vocational training and opportunities in 1965-66.

Due to pressure from students and parents, the board has added $4,000 to the student activities budget to cover an expanded program in ice hockey, lacrosse and wrestling. The high school auditorium, where the seats have been in use for 35 years, is scheduled for a partial refurbishing at $25,000. This includes seating, lights, drapes and painting.

Other items include $89,081.03 additional for obligations for bonds, notes and interest; $2,300 increase for tuition costs of educable students sent to special classes in nearby districts and $7,700 under fixed charges, retirement (unds, employee insurance, fidelity bonds and social security.

In all, the budget is $1,993,060 for "current expenses" 1965-66; $5,000 for buildings and equipment and $201,489.37 for bonds, notes and interest.

A public hearing will be held in the Board of Education office at 8 p.m. Tuesday, January 26.

TOPICS Of The Town

A LOOK TOWARD 1970
Long-Range Plans Made. At its first meeting of the new year, Borough Council approved a five-year capital budget totalling more than $2,000,000.

The budget, covering a period up to 1970, is an estimate of what the municipality believes to be the cost of seven proposed projects. The cost estimate, which was $2,042,250, was requested by the state as an approximation and may vary in actuality.

Council estimated that $200,000 would be needed for the development of the north side of the Community Park recreation project, which is being sponsored jointly with the Township. Other projects include: the purchase of the Harrop property north of Route 206 for open space, $82,250; improvements to sewers and incinerators, including new construction and enlargement of lines, $475,000; road reconstruction, $75,000; construction of the joint public library, $410,000; construction of the new Borough Hall, $600,000; and parking and street development, $200,000.

In other business, Carmen Fasanella of 230 Moore Street asked to meet with Council on behalf of the Independent taxi drivers in Princeton. Mr. Fasanella noted that the number of area taxi stands has been reduced as the result of the new traffic ordinance approved this fall.

Council extended an invitation to the taxi driver to attend a meeting of the traffic safety commission next Tuesday at 3:30. Mayor Henry S. Patterson said that a delegate for the Taxi Drivers Association would also be asked to attend so that all 28 taxi owners in Princeton would be represented.

A quit claim on a deed to property which once had been used for garbage disposal was approved as a formality by Council. The deed was transferred to the Borough from Princeton University in 1925 with the stipulation that it be used for incineration. For some years now, Mayor Patterson explained, the university has been using the property on Alexander Road since it was abandoned as an incinerator.

Council also reported that the Borough jail has again failed to pass inspection. No member was certain, but it was believed that the detention quarters have failed to meet state specifications for at least a dozen years.

in the cafeteria of Princeton High School. Prospective students may register at this time, and also between 4-6 p.m. this Thursday, also in the high school cafeteria. The entrance is on Walnut Lane.

Tennis, not listed in the original schedule of classes, will be offered if there are enough requests. Players who would like to have lessons with William Hume should call 882-5832 as soon as possible, or attend the Open House.

Birds of Princeton is an old favorite with Adult School alumni. It will be offered again, by popular demand, and will be given as before by Charles H. Rogers, curator of the university's Museum of Zoology.

Field Trips Planned. Mr. Rogers will present the more unusual birds of Princeton and the New Jersey shore, and will conduct two field trips, to be arranged at the students' convenience.

Dagmar Tribble, Princeton artist, will explore in depth the techniques of water color, including indoor and outdoor requirements. She will also explain various approaches to watercolor technique.

Jordan Peele, member of the department of Romance languages at Princeton University, will conduct a workshop for spare-time writers. Students will have a chance to converse about the writing craft and submit their own writings for criticism.

Mary Perpetua of the Princeton High School faculty.

IVY INN CLOSED

By ABC for 50 Days. The State Division of Alcoholic Beverage Control has ordered the closure for 50 days of the Ivy Inn, 254 Nassau Street. The suspension will start this Thursday.

The Inn was closed as the result of three separate charges. Owner Peter P. Sannino was charged with selling on a Sunday; possessing lottery tickets; and possessing lewd pictorial materials. The latter two charges, state violations, cost Mr. Sannino 10 days each. Selling on Sunday, a local violation, drew a 30-day suspension.

Actually, Mr. Sannino's license was suspended for 55 days by ABC, but he was given five days less for pleading no defense to all charges. In its hearing, held last week in Newark, the ABC Division noted that Mr. Sannino's license had been suspended twice before. Once for selling to a minor in 1960 and again for selling during prohibited hours and for permitting a brawl in his tavern in 1961. The additional five-day suspension was imposed because of the 1960 infraction.

Mr. Sannino was represented by State Senator Sida L. Rindolfi. Ivy Inn will be allowed to reopen March 5.

the hockey team from Hamden High School, Hamden, Conn., were assaulted at 10:30 Friday evening on Nassau Street by a Princeton teenager and his juvenile companion.

Borough police report that Paul Kane and David H. Thompson were attacked near Andy's Diner by Lloyd H. Tucker, 18, 48 Birch Avenue, and a juvenile. According to police, the Kane boy was cut in the stomach by a nine-inch knife wielded by Tucker. The second youth was reportedly punched in the face. Both were taken to Princeton Hospital, treated and released.

Tucker was charged with assault and battery and released on $100 bail. His companion was released in the custody of his parents.

"Fortunately," said Chief Peter J. McCrohan, "the wound was only a superficial one. It could have been much worse." In answer to a question whether Tucker had given any reason for the assault, Chief McCrohan replied: "No, he didn't have any reason. The two of them were just looking for a fight."

A FARCICAL REVUE WITH MUSIC is the word on "Cambridge Circus," due for a second performance at McCarter on Monday. This number, "Traffic Island," features Bill Oddie and Jo Kendall.

News Of The THEATRES

IT'S THE FUNNIEST
"Cambridge Circus." "Funniest of the off-Broadway shows!" is a direct, authorized quotation from John Chapman of the New York Daily "News," writing about "Cambridge Circus," due to check in Monday at 8:30 at McCarter.

This will be the second Mc-Carter visit for the Cambridge sextet, and for this return engagement, they have several brand new numbers that nobody in Princeton has seen before. The off-Broadway revue is now in its fourth New York month.

SPRINGTIME LAUGHTER
Drama Series Announced. It will be an open season for comedy this spring at McCar-ter. "European Comedy from the Greeks to the Present Day" — sounds like a course description in a college catalogue — is the subject chosen by McCarter for a series of five plays scheduled to start February 20.

And just to add a bit of tragic relief, there will be a production of "Macbeth."

Comedies ready for production are Sheridan's "The Rivals," which will open the series; Aristophanes' "The Birds;" Pirandello's "As You Desire Me" and a double bill consisting of Moliere's
"School for Wives" and Chek-hov's "The Marriage Proposal."

"Macbeth" gets into the series because McCarter likes the idea of at least one major Shakespeare each academic year.

Actors for the 11-week season will be announced next week. Directors will be Stephen Porter, who produced "Man and Superman" for the APA company at the Phoenix Theatre, Mario Siletti, who will direct "The Rivals" and Arthur Lithgow, Mc-Carter's executive director, who will stage "Macbeth."
(This will be the second time
"Macbeth" has been given in McCarter's five year history as a center for the performing arts, and so far as anyone knows, it is the first time any play has been repeated.)
Special matinees for high school students will begin on February 8. McCarter's program for secondary school scholars is now second largest in the country.

In addition to the usual
Thursday, Friday and Saturday subscription series, Mc-Carter will again offer a Sunday matinee subscription.
Complete subscription information, available late in January, may be obtained by writing the theatre, P.O. Box 526, or calling 921-8700.

MIMES SIGNED UP

Polish Troupe Coming. The Polish Mime Theatre, now filling a limited engagement at New York's City Center, will come to Princeton on Tuesday, February 2 at 8:30 for a one-night stand at McCarter.

Founded in 1955, the 30-member troupe has performed throughout Europe, and won two major prizes last year at the Theatre of Nations Festival in Paris. Pantomimes in the repertoire include Polish folk tales, scenes from Gogol's "The Overcoat" and "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" and original works by Henryk Tomas-zewski, founder of the company.

Tickets are now on sale at the McCarter box-office.

ENTER "NEVSKY" Eisenstein, Prokofiev. The complete and uncut "Alexander Nevsky" will be shown this Friday at 8 in McCarter's International Film Series—tickets at the door.

Sergei Eisenstein's great film has a score by Sergei Proko-fiev, subsequently recorded as the "Alexander Nevsky Can-ta." The film is based on the 13th-century invasion of Russia
by the Order of the Teutonic Knights, and depicts the successful defense of the free city of Novgorod by its citizens and their prince, Alexander Nev-sky.

DOWN!

Ski Film on the Way. "Persian Powder" is not limited to skiing in the deep powder snow of the 18,000-foot Persian Alps.
It also shows how to get downhill at Jackson Hole, Wyoming, which has the longest descent
in the United States—4,100 feet—and various slopes in Colorado, such as those at Winter Park, Vail and Aspen.

John Jay, who filmed the full-color adventure film, will also narrate it for McCarter audiences on Wednesday, January 27, at 8 p.m. He has included in his footage some scenes of Olympic stars at Innsbruck. The late Buddy Werner's last race will also be shown.

IT'S NEW To Us

DIP RIGHT IN

Guests Invited. Next time you give a cocktail party, the kind of party to which you invite the choice cut of your guest list, ask Jane Griswold to fix the food.

Mrs. Griswold does not make canapés. She refuses to make hors d'œuvre. She makes what she calls "party comestibles," or "fare with a flair," and once your guests have dipped into one of her comestibles, you'll never get them to the dinner table.

Bourbon Street cheese, to start. Maybe you can guess the ingredients, and that's what you'll have to do, because Mrs. G. isn't revealing the recipe she got from a southern friend. Basically, Bourbon Street cheese is a mixture of cheeses and seasonings rolled into a log about 18 inches long and then rolled in seasoned caraway seeds. It's served on an oval wooden tray surrounded by party rye

IT'S THE BEST BUTTER: Imagination, quality and skill are the overall ingredients in Jane Griswold's "comestibles." She uses only sweet butter, then corrects the seasoning herself; she uses only the freshest eggs and selects them for size. Try a deviled egg made from the tiniest pullet egg—a delight! (Staff Photo) and every guest in the room. Liptauer cheese spread from a Viennese recipe will keep them coming back, too, and so will the Italian peppered ham spread with cream cheese, horseradish and coarsely ground black pepper, rolled and sliced into pinwheels.

"I never compromise," Mrs. Griswold says flatly. "I use the finest ingredients and I never use short-cuts and my things are expensive."

By "expensive," Mrs. Griswold means $9 for the Bourbon Street cheese and $10 if she provides tray and rye. You can serve 60 helpings, however.

Her pate maison is another example of quality, refusal to compromise, and unqualified success. In her pate she uses truffles, sweet butter, and a splash of the best cognac, and if $8 a crock seems high (the crock is small), don't forget that the pate is rich beyond compare, and not to be swabbed carelessly on just any-old cracker.

One of her favorite individual comestibles, individual that is, in the sense that you pick one up at a time and eat it, is the East Indian cheese ball, blended with a curry, ginger and chutney and then rolled in chopped coconut.

Want a dip? Polynesian ginger dip has water chestnuts, chutney and ginger. The mushroom dip, one of the best you could possibly imagine, has a base of cream cheese and just a bit of whipped cream blended with sherry. The sardine dip is not so proletarian as its name indicates, thanks to an abundance of lime juice and parsley. And Mrs. Griswold makes a splendid guacamole.

This time of the year, after a cold walk in the snow or a session of ice-skating, serve the hot Mexican bean dip, hearty and magnetic; the hand just keeps reaching out for more, more, more...

Now, we come to this question of hot things. Mrs. Griswold will prepare hot foods for you only if you have someone in the kitchen to see that they are served properly. You have to qualify! Chicken Liv-ers wrapped in bacon, for example, mushroom caps stuffed with crab meat or sausage, or wonderful open-face hot cheese sandwiches done with bacon and onions—these fall into the "help needed" category.

If her schedule is open enough, Mrs. Griswold will make special desserts, too, like the 9-layer Viennese torte, the Alsatian rum-cake or icebox cakes.

Allow 48 hours for all these things. As you can see, most of them have to ripen to be at their peak. And do, for goodness sake, invite people who will appreciate the quality and originality of this "fare with a flair." The number to call is 921-7034, between 7:30 and 8:30 in the morning, or 6-9 in the evening.

Hot Dog!

Culinary imagination runs in the family. Jane Griswold, whose delicacies you'll read about elsewhere in "New to Us," is the granddaughter of the man who invented the hot dog.

The late Harry M. Stevens—grandpa—was a food concessionaire faced suddenly with a cold day when absolutely nothing would sell. In desperation, he sent around the corner for some sausages, put them into rolls, lathered them with mustard and offered them up hot. They went, as the saying goes, like hot-cakes.

Mr. Stevens' son, Joseph, is a well-known concessionaire and the father of Mrs. Griswold. "My parents never would let me into the kitchen when I was a little girl," Mrs. Griswold recalls. "I loved to cook and I had to sneak into the kitchen when nobody was looking."

What Every Woman Should Know About Permanent Waving.

by Jheri Redding
(Cont'd, from last week)

In many cases actual breakage of the hair occurs during the permanent waving process. To stop this severe decomposition the hair is immediately and thoroughly rinsed with water to remove all traces of the destructive Acid. As soon as the peak of the destruction is reached the permanent curls appear.

In permanent waving, by rinsing thoroughly with water and removing the Acid as soon as the permanent wave curl appears (which is the peak of hair destruction), the experienced Hairdresser endeavors to stop the destructive efforts of the Acid (permanent waving lotion). The point of the beginning of the complete degeneration of the hair is the period of permanent waving that the absolute judgement of a HIGHLY EXPERIENCED Hairdresser is a prime necessity. After this point of extreme decomposition (spongy structure of the hair) is reached, it sometimes takes but FOUR MINUTES for the hair to reach "The Point of No Return." In this short time (the safe time of permanent waving action) the peak of permanent waving has been reached and from this point on complete destruction of the hair may begin.

If the Thioglycolic Acid (permanent waving lotion) is not rinsed from the hair in this "period of grace," the proteins of which the hair is composed suffer from disintegration to such an extent that the hair may become exceedingly DRY, BRITTLE, FRIZZY AND LUSTERLESS. In other words; "over-processing" by permanent waving may occur in the amazingly short time of FOUR MINUTES. If the action of the Acid is stopped within the four minutes (and this is dependent completely upon the knowledge, experience and attention of the operator in charge of the permanent), the next step in permanent waving is to attempt to return the hair shaft to its original size (the hair, like all naturally organic substances, swells as it decomposes). This step then "Seals in" the new "shape" (curly) of the hair and this new "shape" is made permanent. This step (shrinking of the hair) is called "neutralizing." (To be cont'd. next week.)

MONEY ON THE TABLE: Sean Connery as James Bond confronts Honor Blackman as Pussy Galore, chief pilot of the man who plans to rob Fort Knox, in "Goldfinger." The film opens Friday at the Playhouse and the Prince.

present a fashion show in conjunction with the film, and free door prizes will be offered.

DOWNER TO SPEAK

All Are Welcome. "Some Recent Playwrights" will be explored and explained by Alan Downer, chairman of the English department at Princeton University, when members and guests of Community Players gather for an open meeting this Sunday at 8:30 in Murray Theatre.

Lee Yopp, who will direct the Players' next production, will also be present. Mr. Yopp, director of the theatre at Rider College, will direct the Players in "Oh, Dad, Poor Dad; Momma's Hung You in the Closet and I'm Feelin' So Sad."

One of the Players' spring projects will be a ten week acting workshop to be conducted by Mario Siletti, an actor well-known to Princeton audiences. Details will be outlined at the meeting.

PLAYHOUSE AND PRINCE

Goldfinger (opens Friday)
The third of the Ian Fleming thrillers to hit the screen is as exciting a travesty on reality as were "Dr. No" and "From Russia With Love." Sean Connery is again James Bond (Agent 007), surrounded by beautiful women and deadly enemies.

The evil genius in this caper is wealthy Goldfinger, played with oily assurance by Gert Frobe. His project is to "knock off" the gold in Fort Knox. The British Secret Service, called into the case because Britain's gold reserves are being depleted, assigns Bond to investigate.

Bond picks up Goldfinger at a Florida hotel, and runs headlong into a crew of criminal specialists, including a Korean karatist and Pussy Galore (Honor Blackman), the beauty who flies lead plane in Goldfinger's private air force. Another of Bond's occupational hazards is Goldfinger's gold-plated girl friend, played by Shirley Eaton.

Ever fearless and alert, Bond barrels about in a sports car more deadly than a tank. It is equipped with machine guns in the grille, blades concealed in the hub caps, a smokescreen device, an oil slick release, bulletproof windows, revolving license plates and mechanism that ejects a passenger right out the roof.

One hair-raising adventure piles on another. Revenge and the double-cross run rampant, with those beautiful girls right in there pitching. And James Bond takes his dangers as he finds them.

GARDEN

Woman in the Dunes (now playing) There will be almost as many interpretations of this Japanese film as there are spectators. It is the latest in the puzzler category, to which "Hiroshima, Mon Amour," "Last Year at Marienbad," and "8 1/2" belong.

The story, strictly adult fare, is presented on a realistic level, but its meaning is elusive and complex. A young school teacher Eiji Okada appears on a desolate stretch of sand dunes looking for insect specimens. When he misses the last bus home, he asks a passerby for lodging. He is directed to a cottage in a 100-ft. sand pit, which he reaches by means of a rope ladder. The next morning he learns that he is trapped.

Frustrated in his attempts to escape, his predicament grows more appealing as the wind drives cascades of sand over the rim of the pit. The woman

CHANGES ANNOUNCED
At University. A re-alignment in Princeton University's administrative offices was announced this week. Edgar M. Gemmell (see "Man of the Week"), administrative vice-president of the University, will retire in June. His duties will be divided between Ricardo A. Mestres, financial vice-president and treasurer, and Jeremiah A. Finch who has been named secretary-designate of the University.

Alexander Leitch, now serving as University secretary, will retire in June of 1966, and upon his retirement, Dr. Finch will assume the title of secretary.

Dr. Finch, a member of the University faculty since 1936, has served on the Borough Board of Education, and was for a time vice-president of the Board.

PRINCETON WOMAN DIES
After Car Hits Her, Mrs. Mary Douglass, 58, of 30 Race Street, died in Middlesex General Hospital, New Brunswick, Sunday from injuries she received when struck by a car last Wednesday on Route 27, Franklin Township.

Police said Mrs. Douglass was crossing Route 27 at the intersection of Henderson Road when she was hit by a car operated by Donald W. Davis, 25, of 100 Stockton Street. Mrs. Douglass received a broken leg and head injuries which proved fatal.

On Monday in Princeton Township, Mrs. Sigrid A. Kaiser, 29, 233 Arretton Road, went into a skid while driving on slippery Route 206. Her car crossed into the opposite lane, struck a telephone pole, and bounced back on the roadway into the path of a car operated by Henry J. Keury, 42, of Trenton.

Police said Mr. Keury was coming to a halt at the time because he had seen the Kaiser car go into a skid. There were no injuries or summonses as a result of the p.m. mishap, but the Kaiser car, its entire front damaged, had to be towed away.

Early Saturday morning at 1:04, William D. Geren, 40, 107 Linwood Drive, lost control of his small foreign car on Alexander Street, just north of the steel bridge which crosses Stony Brook. Doris A. Geren, a passenger, suffered a laceration of her ear and a contusion of her shoulder.

Mr. Geren's car, according to the police report, made a complete spin on the bridge, left the roadway and struck a tree. It was raining at the time.

In the Borough, David H. Blair Jr., 46, 343 Jefferson Road, told police he saw a man lying in the roadway as he was driving on Bayard Lane early Saturday evening. Police report Mr. Blair applied his brakes and skidded to a point where the front wheels of his car touched the man.

Lying in the roadway was Louis Jezuquel of Princeton Inn. He told police he fell to the road while attempting to cross the street. His knees were skinned and there was a laceration over his right eye, police said. Mr. Jezuquel also complained of back pains. Police made no charges. The accident occurred at 6:20 p.m. about 300 feet away from the intersection of N. Stanworth Drive.

NINE ARE FINED
For Traffic Violations. Nine Princeton area residents were fined in Magistrate's Court last week, six in the Township and three in the Borough. In Township court, conducted for the first time by its newly-appointed magistrate, Glenn B. Miller Jr., three motorists were charged with failing to yield the right of way. They are Fred C. Rhodes, 21, 14 Horner Lane; William E. Diringer, 18, 9 Pine Street, each fined $15, and Connie L. Windisch, 24, Camp Meeting Road, Skillman, who was fined $10.

Three others were fined for careless driving. Charles J. Lancelot, 23, 182 Washington Street Rocky Hill, was fined $10 each on two separate charges, while John D. Collin-

242½ Nossau Street — We Pay For Parking

Oppose Post Office
A petition signed by 95 persons who live close to the proposed new post office site on North Harrison, has been presented to the Township Planning Board. The gist of the petition: we don't want the post office here.
A committee of six Township residents circulated the petition, stating in the document their objections to the site and urging the Planning Board to retain the residential character of the neighborhood. The six are Raymond J. Weihaus, John A. Sly, Steve M. Slaby, George Pinelli, Henry J. Frank and John S. Mount.
At Monday night's meeting of the Planning Board, A.C. Reeves Hicks was asked to prepare a detailed memorandum of all the arguments presented last month by the post office representative who appeared before the board. When Mr. Hicks has submitted his memorandum, the board will hold a public meeting on the post office question.

son, 17, 347 Mercer Road, and Walter Jennings, 76, 23 Lytle
Street, were fined $10 each.

In the Borough, Magistrate
Theodore T. Tams Jr. levied
$15 fines against David C.
Murphy Jr., 49, 151½ Leigh Avenue, for careless driving, and Conrad C. Daniels, Jr., 23, 16 Bank Street, for an improper turn. Margaret R.
Spaniel, 51, Stockton Street, paid $16 for speeding.

The Division of Motor Vehicles announced last week the suspension of the licenses of three Princeton area drivers.

Charles W. Phox, 29, 32
Leigh Avenue, lost his 30 days for speeding; George W. Johnson, 19, 35 Park Place, three months on points; Leon A. Anderson, 39, of Cranbury, surrendered his license for one month after being convicted of speeding in Delaware under a reciprocity agreement.

GAY BLADES INVITED

To Skating Party. Husbands and wives affiliated with the Junior Faculty Wives of Princeton University will skate next Wednesday from 8-10 p.m. at Baker Rink.

The occasion is a Skating
Party planned by the Faculty Wives. Ray Frisbie, skating pro, will be on hand, and members of the Wyman Club and their husbands, have also been invited to attend. The Wyman Club is composed of wives of graduate students.

RCA PLANS ANALYSIS

For World Weather System.
RCA's Astro-Electronics Division outside Hightstown has undertaken for the U. S.
Weather Bureau an analysis of operational requirements for a proposed world weather system.

RCA is working with the Weather Bureau to develop a design for a system, the first phase of which the Bureau will recommend to the United Nations' World Meteorological Organization. Three major function of the world system—data acquisition, data processing and communication—will be examined and analyzed by RCA.

The Bureau's award of this contract to RCA followed evaluation of proposals submitted by almost a dozen companies, according to Dr. Herbert M. Gunk of RCA. RCA Communications will assist in the analysis.

Earlier, the Astro-Electronics Division was selected to build the Bureau's Operational Weather Satellite, Tiro, and RCA Communications was chosen to operate the weather data exchange between Moscow and Washington.

WALK ALONG THE CANAL?

Open Space to Explore. On both sides of the Delaware and Raritan Canal, all the way from Port Mercer on Quaker Bridge Road, to Kingston, is a strip of land belonging to the state.

In some places, it goes back 200 feet from the water's edge, in some places only 50 feet, and everywhere it is overgrown, scraggly and unkempt.

On Tuesday of this week, the Township's Open Space Commission sat down in private session with representatives of the state, Mercer County, West
Windsor, Franklin, Plainsboro, Kingston and Princeton University to talk about the canal strip and discuss what might be done with it.

Walking paths and bicycle paths are chiefly in the minds of Open Space Commissioners.
There is no thought of using the canal itself—for waterskiers or hot-rod motorboats.
Open Space would like to see the land cleaned out and made safe (no crumbling banks) and pleasing to walk on (no poison ivy).

The state also has some plans for the area and probably some money. The University is involved because the canal and its strip adjoins University property in some places. The Open Space Commission always likes to acquire land in the flood plain as a vital link in the conservation chain, and the canal therefore qualifies in both conservation and recreation categories. (See also "Mailbox," page 23)

TO DISCUSS MERGER

Of Public School. "Borough-Township School. Should
They Merge?" will be the subject of a public forum to be held Tuesday, March 2, in the auditorium of Princeton High School under the auspices of the six PTA organizations of Borough and Township.

Members of both school boards will participate. They will present the facts, problems and possible solutions contained in the joint school study that is to be part of the Dille report.

Originally scheduled for January, the forum was postponed until March to avoid any conflict with the school elections.

ROSZEL CHOSEN AGAIN

In West Windsor. Malcolm
B. Roszel has been chosen again by his fellow committeemen to serve as mayor of West Windsor. Township Mr. Roszel has been mayor for the past three years. The other West Windsor Committeemen are Arthur L. Everett and T. Alvin Carson.

Joseph A. Blyman and Eli S.
Firth have been re-appointed to three-year terms on the West Windsor Zoning Board and Warren B. Cook has been named again to a six-year term on the Township Planning Board. Mr. Cook is chairman.

West Windsor Committee appointed Mrs. Ruth M. Flock as tax collector, filling out the unexpired term of her father, H. Herbert Mather, who died last year. A new tax collector will be elected in November.

William Fisher has been named custodian of the Alexander Road Township dump.

1st DAY NEW YORK/BOSTON/MONTREAL/CHICAGO Depart by Alitalia DC-8 Jet.

2nd DAY MILAN Morning arrival in Milan. You will be met and assisted at the City Air Terminal. Day at leisure.

3rd DAY MILAN Morning sightseeing. Milan, predominantly a modern city, where you will find many new buildings as well as Italy's tallest skyscrapers. In addition, Milan has also retained many of her outstanding older buildings and a wealth of art treasures. The Cathedral, begun in 1386, is one of the largest and most magnificent churches in the world.

4th DAY MILAN/VERONA/VENICE Leave Milan. Travel through Verona to Venice. From Milan, driving east through Brescia, you arrive in the city of Verona. Any cafe in the spacious main square, Piazza Bra, faces the amphitheatre built under Diocletian in the year 290 A.D. Continuing towards Venice, you pass through Padua, famous for its ancient university where Galileo taught.

5th DAY VENICE Morning sightseeing. Venice is perhaps the most unique city in Europe and certainly one of the most romantic. Built on 118 islets connected only by bridges, one is always surrounded by water. A gondola ride along the Grand Canal, lined with magnificent palaces and churches, is an unforgettable experience.

6th DAY VENICE/FERRARA/RAVENNA/FLORENCE Driving south from Venice and the River Po, we come to Ferrara, once the home of the famous noble family of Este. The Castle of the Este princes with its four towers and a moat still stands intact. From Ferrara, towards the Adriatic coast, continue to Ravenna, one of the most interesting cities in Italy. It has many important early medieval buildings and art treasures and is also known throughout the world for its mosaic masterpieces.

7th DAY FLORENCE Full day sightseeing.

8th DAY FLORENCE At leisure.

The ancient capital of Tuscany in the lovely foothills of the Apennines, Florence, is justly called "La Bella" in Italy. From the middle ages onward, this city has been the center of Italian intellectual and artistic life. It was here that Dante, Boccaccio and Petrarch wrote, and Michelangelo, della Robbia, fra Angelico, da Vinci and many others worked.

9th DAY FLORENCE/PERUGIA/ASSISI/ROME Leave Florence. Drive through Perugia and Assisi to Rome.

A particularly lovely drive takes you southward, through the center of Italy, toward Rome. Perugia lies on the hills in Umbria above the Tiber Valley. Its scenic beauty is enhanced by the fine 14th century architecture. Continuing south is Assisi, famous as the birthplace of Saint Francis who founded the Franciscan Order in 1208. On the edge of a hill stands the Convent of St. Francis with frescoes by Giotto and the Crypt with the Saint's remains.

10th DAY ROME Morning sightseeing.

11th DAY ROME Afternoon sightseeing.

12th DAY ROME At leisure.

Rome, the capital of Italy and center of Roman Catholicism, offers an intriguing picture of the past and present. Renowned for its gay and exciting nightlife, the historical city of the Old Roman Empire with its ancient ruins is also a gay Bohemia of the modern world. As you walk through the fantastic city, the shadows of many centuries are all around you. . . . Then, of course, there is artistic Rome — lovely and legendary fountains grace the squares and the streets — every church contains a treasure of sculptures and frescoes.

13th DAY ROME/AQUAPENDENTE/SIENA/PISA On the return from Rome, northwards to Milan, a different route takes you through Aquapendente to Siena. A principal art city of Italy, Siena is known for the festival, "Il Pallo."

Continuing from Siena, toward the Ligurian coast, is Pisa, a charming Tuscan city, somewhat like a miniature Florence. Pisa attracts many tourists to see the famous leaning tower.

14th DAY PISA/LA SPEZIA/RAPALLO/GENOA/MILANO Leave Pisa. Continue through the Italian Riviera to Milan.

From Pisa the road to Genoa follows the coast and encompasses some of Italy's loveliest scenic beauty. One of the safest natural harbors along this route is La Spezia. An important Italian naval base, there are also beaches, gardens and lovely views of the gulf and the Apuan Alps. Further along the coast, shortly after passing through the resort town of Rapallo, is Italy's leading seaport, Genoa.

15th DAY NEW YORK/BOSTON/MONTREAL/CHICAGO Assistance and transfer from hotel to the city air terminal. Leave Milan via ALITALIA DC-8 Jet.

County also received road grants from the state.

Other allocations in the area include $10,000 to West Windsor for part of Alexander Road; $10,000 to the Borough of Pennington for East Delaware Avenue; $10,000 to Hopewell for a part of Scotch Road; and $15,000 to Lawrence for Eggerts Crossing.

The money comes from the Allotment Fund, one of five funds which disburse about $16 million annually to New Jersey counties and municipalities for various purposes. The Allotment Fund distributes to communities that want to build or re-build parts of road and street systems. Allocations are made on the basis of relative need.

FIVE SEEK POSITIONS

On Montgomery School Board. Five men, including two incumbents, have filed petitions as candidates for the three available seats on the Montgomery Township school board.

The contenders are Norman T. Hoagland and Charles W. Grayson, incumbents, and Dr. A. Louis Shor, Burton Weiss and Richard Handler, Mrs. J. Francis Pariso, whose term is ending, will not seek re-election.

READY TO MOVE

Commission to Meet. A public meeting schedule will be announced next week by the Joint Recreation Commission following an executive session to be held this Thursday.

The regular monthly meetings will probably alternate between a Borough and a Township location, according to R. Donald Barr, recreation director. Mr. Barr will present to the Commission this Thursday a schedule of duties and responsibilities which he has drawn up in order to define areas in which he is to work, and areas in which Commission members will operate.

The Commission, formed in July, has met irregularly since that time. Its last meeting was early in December.

Rateables Up

Tax rateables in Princeton Township have increased by $9,233,818 since last year, according to Stuart Robson, Township tax assessor.

Total rateables for 1965 will be $120,300,034, as opposed to the 1964 figure of $111,066,418.

The trend in the Township is consistently upward: 1964's rateables were more than $6 million over 1963's. This year, the Township will assess its property owners at 50% of true value, rather than 100% as it has since 1957. The Mercer County Tax Board requires the shift.

CONCERT SCHEDULED For Women's Club Meeting.

Three University students in music will give a concert next Thursday at 1:30 for the Women's Club of Princeton. The meeting will be held at the Shrine Club, River Road.

The students, who will play selections from Beethoven and Mozart, are Victor Rosenbaum and David Steinbrook, pianists, and George Gelles, whose instrument is the horn. Mr. Rosenbaum and Mr. Steinbrook are graduate students, and Mr. Gelles is a senior.

Charles L. Parker Sr., landscape architect, will address the garden and conservation department of the Club on Tuesday, January 26, at 10. The hostess will be Mrs. Conrad J. Schwoerer, 269 Shady Brook Lane. His talk is entitled "Designing and Landscaping Your Homes," and will be illustrated with pictures and drawings.

TEENAGERS PROBLEM?

Dr. Silverman to Speak. The Mercer County Association for Mental Health will meet Tuesday, January 26, at the Nassau Inn to hear Dr. Albert J. Silverman discuss "The Teenage Problem: Fantasy or Fact?"

Dr. Silverman is chairman of the department of psychiatry at Rutgers Medical School, and was formerly director of the division of human behavior of Duke University's psychiatry department.

Dr. Jack I. Bardon, professor of education at Rutgers, will participate in the discussion with Dr. Silverman. He is a former board member of the Association.

SKATE WITH SCOUTS

Party Friday Evening. Members of Troop 7, Princeton Girl Scouts, will sponsor a skating party Friday from 8 to 10 at the Lawrenceville School rink. All junior, cadette and senior scouts, and their families are invited.

Mrs. Arthur Benson is leader of the troop, with Kathleen Cherry serving as aide. Tickets may be purchased from Debby Benson, Honey Carroll, Diana Cherry, Ann Goeke, Patty Johnson, Madeline Nist, Wendy Nollner, Sally Rechif, Carol Rich, Anne Rimalover, Barbara Sejnosi, Beverly Sharretts, Ellen Skinkler, Martha Stair and Margaret Tyson.

Further information on the party may be obtained from Mrs. William Cherry, 924-4232.

SQUARE DANCE PLANNED By Plainsboro PTA. John

Kelser will be the caller for the Plainsboro PTA square dance next Saturday, January 23. The dance will begin at 8 in the all-purpose room of the Plainsboro school.

A "teen hop" will be held at the same time in the school cafeteria. Refreshments will be available.

CERCLE TO MEET

Will Hear Prof. Hoog. Le Cercle Français will meet Wednesday, January 20, at 8:30 in Wilcox Hall for a lecture by Armand Hoog, Pyne professor of French literature at Princeton.

His topic will be "Un Rol Romantique a Bordenstown, 1815-39." The King of Naples and Spain owned 1,000 acres near Trenton during this period and lived in Bordenstown, frequently traveling to Princeton for visits to Morven.

MERIT BADGE SHOW SET

By Stony Brook District. A Merit Badge show, including 30 exhibits, will be staged next Friday, January 22, at 7:30, in the University's Dillon Gymnasium. It is the first such show to be sponsored by the Stony Brook District, George Washington Council, Boy Scouts of America.

The exhibits will cover 42 badge subjects, and scouts from 14 area troops will explain the exhibits. Topics will include camping, canoeing, pioneering, first aid, stamp collecting, marksmanship, motor boating, geology, atomic energy and electronics.

The Jamesburg marching band will present a short program as part of the evening's activities. Boys eight years and up, and their families, are invited to the show.

Host for the evening is the University's chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, the national Boy Scout fraternity and service organization. Fred Long is chapter president. John A. Woodard is District Scout executive.

CHIEF LAUDS POLICE

For Nabbing Purse Snatchers. "A lot of men spent a lot of time on this. It was an all-out effort," said Borough Chief Peter J. McCrohan, in praising members of his department for apprehending two juvenile purse snatchers. The purse snatching, which took place December 17, was the only one Chief McCrohan said he could remember happening all year in the Borough.

On the 17th, Miss Carol Bogert of Doylestown, Pa., a registered nurse at Princeton Hospital, told police, she was walking on Franklin Avenue, about 7 in the evening when two teenagers approached her from either side, grabbed her purse and ran off.

Miss Bogert said she pursued the boys but lost sight of them on John Street. The only description she could give the police was that they were Negroes, one tall, the other short. Her purse, she said, contained $52 and important personal papers and keys.

The first break came the next day. Ptl. Harold Sweeney of the Township told Borough police he was driving by at the time and saw part of the incident. He was able to give the police a fuller description of the fleeing youths.

BUSINESS In Princeton

CHAMBER PLANS DINNER
Gov. Hughes to Speak. The Chamber of Commerce will hold its annual dinner-dance Saturday at the Nassau Inn, with the occasion to be marked by an address by Gov. Richard J. Hughes and installation of officers.

"Dateline Princeton" is the theme for this year's program, symbolizing the community's international renown for its numerous institutions and personalities, particularly in the fields of education and research. A highlight of the evening will be presentation of the annual Man of the Year award, with the identity of the recipient to be revealed at the dinner.

Previous winners have been B. Franklin Bunn, business man and long-time servant; University President Robert F. Goheen and Dr. Eimer W. Engstrom, RCA president. Dan D. Coyle, a director of the Chamber, will read the Man of the Year citation. Assistant to President Goheen, he is co-publisher of Town Topics.

Officers to Begin Terms. Arthur N. Curtiss, administrative manager of RCA Laboratories, with which he has been associated for 35 years, will become the Chamber president. He succeeds Alan G. Frank of Langrock's.

Mr. Curtiss graduated from the University of Pittsburgh and taught at the Purdue University School of Engineering for four years prior to joining RCA. His home is at 352 Dods Lane.

R. L. Lenhart, advertising agency head, and Albridge C. Smith 3d, Princeton attorney, will be installed Saturday as vice-presidents of the Chamber. William R. Breeze, controller at RCA Laboratories, will take office as treasurer, succeeding George J. Adriance. Mr. Frank, the retiring Chamber president, this week made an optimistic estimate of the community's economic future. "Business in 1965 in the greater Princeton area," he believes, "should continue to be good and improve in some categories."

He feels that higher payrolls and increased banking activity will be major factors in the continuing upturn, but points out that expanded consumer buying will not necessarily follow as a matter of course. He comments:

"Whether the retail segment of our community as a whole is going to benefit from this increased activity in the same proportion is the big question for 1965."

"It has been said that 'business in Princeton is peculiar' that, even when it is 'bad' it is 'good.' However, in keeping with principles that Chambers are dedicated to, we would like to see it excellent and the responsibility for this rests in two areas."

"The first is with the individual business itself and its ability to develop trade. In this regard, many of our local organizations have enlarged and modernized during the past year with the benefits attached thereto; others have plans for enlarging and modernizing during 1965; all of which has and should help immeasurably in creating additional business activity."

The second responsibility for a healthy community rests with government in providing a climate in which business can prosper. This relates to providing adequate parking, planning, zoning, recreation, education, conveniences, services, etc.

"Great steps were taken during the past year by our local municipalities in this regard but this is a continuing process and much still remains to be done."

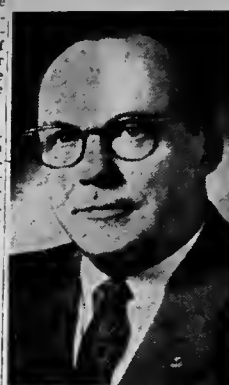

SO LONG, JOE

Redding Retires. After 45 years in the plumbing and heating business, Joseph J. Redding has retired.

Employees of his firm, J.B. Redding and Son, Inc., gave him a testimonial dinner Saturday at the Nassau Inn, and presented him with luggage, a camera, an engraved silver cigarette lighter and a pen-and-pencil desk set.

"I don't have any plans to use that desk set right now," Mr. Redding said with a smile, after the dinner, "but who knows? I might do something . . ."

"Doing something" has been a consistent pattern for the Princeton businessman. He has been on the Borough Housing Authority for 20 years and chairman for almost a decade. He was on Borough Council from 1946 to 1949 and served, during that time, as police commissioner and finance commissioner.

For 15 years, he was a trustee of Princeton Hospital, for two years he was Lions Club president and during World War II, he was chief of the Civil Defense Auxiliary Police.

Joined Father. "I started this business with my father in January, 1920," Mr. Redding recalls. "I bought out my father in 1940, just a year before he died, and in 1958, I incorporated. This building at 234 Nassau, where we are now, I built right after the war."

The building houses, at present, the offices of Van Note-Harvey Associates, Varsity Liquors, the offices and retail showroom of J.B. Redding and, in the rear, the plumbing work-room.

The firm will be run by Mr. Redding's brother, John B. Redding Jr., and the office manager, George Pinelli, both of whom have been purchasing stock in the firm over a period of three or four years.

assigned to the case. Chief McCrohan said they questioned between 25 and 30 teenagers at length before narrowing their list of suspects to two.

On December 22, the two suspects, 17 and 15-years old, were picked up on a motor vehicle charge. At the time they were questioned about the purse snatching but they denied any knowledge of the affair.

One Confesses. On January 7, the two were summoned into juvenile court by Sgt. James Kopliner, juvenile officer, who had obtained additional information. After much questioning, Chief McCrohan said one of them finally admitted to Sgt. Kopliner that they had grabbed the purse.

The two were placed on indefinite probation and a 9 o'clock curfew by Juvenile Referee Howard Stepp, and were ordered to pay the money back. Police said they had received $26 from one of the boys, who admitted they had spent the money.

Chief McCrohan revealed that some of the contents of the purse had also been recovered. The purse itself was tossed into Bedens Brook.

A report of the incident will be sent to J. Wilson Noden, Mercer County juvenile judge, for further possible action, Chief McCrohan said. Also assisting in the investigation was Detective Robert McAvonia.

LIQUOR REPORT GIVEN

By Community Services. Mrs. Charles E. St. John, chairman for hospital and civic planning of the Council for Community Services, warned at a recent meeting of the effects of removing controls on costs of packaged alcoholic beverages.

Mrs. St. John noted that the costs are currently controlled by fair trade practices of the state. If they are removed, she said, it might be more profitable for package stores which have bars to expand their on-premise consumption operations.

Under the present regulations, she continued, no controls could be placed on the extent of this expansion. The establishments could evolve into night clubs, Mrs. St. John said. Mrs. John J. Fisher, president of the council, asked for further study of the report.

BUDGET APPROVED

By Montgomery Board. The Montgomery Township Board of Education has tentatively approved a 1965-66 budget calling for nearly $600,000 to be raised by taxes.

A public hearing will be held Thursday, January 21, at 8, at which time the board will answer questions raised by area residents. The meeting will be held in the kindergarten room of the Township school on Orchard Road.

The tax figures, $598,764.25, represents a 16.6 percent rise over last year. The number of students has increased 18.4 percent and high school and elementary enrollment this year is at 984 and is expected to rise to 1,163 next year.

DEVELOPMENT PLANNED
Off Herrontown Road. Informal plans for a new development, "Point of Woods," were presented Monday night to the Township Planning Board. The developers, Louis Kraft and Stanley Pilshaw, were told they could proceed with a formal presentation.

"Point of Woods" will consist of 10 lots bounded by Herrontown Road, Autumn Hill Road and the Girl Scout camp property. On the informal plans, it will be entered by a new road, Crooked Tree Lane, which will intersect with Herrontown Road.

TEACHING COURSES OPEN
At Princeton High. Trenton State Teachers College will offer three courses at Princeton High School during the Spring semester.

They are entitled "Teaching Arts and Crafts in Elementary Grades," "Teaching Science in Elementary Grades" and "Child Psychology." They will be offered on Tuesday evenings beginning February 2.

Interested residents may register by mail from January 14 to 21 or in person from January 20 to 27. For further information, those interested may contact the field services division of Trenton State.

The Princeton Branch of the American Association of University Women is helping to sponsor the program.

PLAN ANNUAL MEETING
For YWCA Members. The Princeton YWCA will hold its 15th annual membership dinner and meeting on Thursday, January 23, at 6:45.

The business meeting and program will begin at 8:15. The association, which has been a part of the community for nearly a half century, has grown steadily in recent years.

A play entitled "Who Knows Mrs. Powers?" will be presented by a professional cast. Mrs. Paul Fussell Jr. will direct the show.

Reservations will be accepted at the YWCA office until January 26. Those wishing further information may contact the office at 924-1025.

TO DISCUSS CURRICULUM
At Riverside School. Parents of children in the fourth and fifth grades will meet at the Riverside School on Tuesday at 8 to learn about the methods and materials used in the mathematics curriculum.

Each teacher will discuss techniques used in the individual classes illustrating the talks with books and materials. There will be a general meeting following the individual sessions led by Mrs. Ruth Law.

AREA REPRESENTED
At State Women's Meeting. Princeton's Business and Professional Women's Club will be represented at the state meeting of the organization Saturday in New Brunswick.

Members who will attend are Mrs. Kathryn Helm, president, Mrs. Anne P. Dennen, Mrs. Ella L. Geddes, Mrs. Helen C. Kraus, Mrs. Isabelle H. Leland, Mrs. Esther Stalker and Mrs. Ethel Yeoman. Mrs. Doris Hubaska, a former president of the state federation of women's clubs, will be the guest speaker at a luncheon.

TOWN TOPICS reaches every home and place of business served by the Princeton post office. By their own choice, no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

Prof. E. D. Sullivan of the Princeton University Department of Romance Languages will discuss the Peace Corps. Other speakers include Dr. Jeanette Munro, Mrs. Regina Meredith and J. Fred Fisher, a vice-president of the Princeton Bank and Trust Company.

TALES ABOUT NO TAILS: President Johnson's decision to wear a business suit and not the traditional formal attire at his inauguration next Wednesday elicits disapproval from Kevin Delaney (right) and is interpreted by Fred Singer. Staff Photo.

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion of President Johnson's decision to wear a business suit at his inauguration rather than the customary formal attire?

Where asked: Around town.

Fred Singer, 51 Red Hill Road, roofer for Cooper & Schafer: I feel it should be his own decision to make. Maybe he is trying to show he isn't going along with established procedure. I believe he is trying to prove he is not a conformist, that he isn't going to do something just because everyone has done it a certain way for years. I think he is trying to show that he thinks for himself and has his own ideas and opinions.

Kevin Delaney, 56 Jefferson Road, roofer for Cooper & Schafer: I think he is kind of changing tradition and I feel he should leave well enough alone—leave tradition as it is. It's our heritage. I can't see any practical reason for changing it. An inauguration should be formal. Diplomats and dignitaries come from all over to attend; it's one of the most diplomatic and significant ceremonies there is. My feeling is that it should be as formal as possible.

Dr. James Hansel, Varsity Avenue, Penns Neck, research, Princeton University: I agree with Johnson in the sense that informality is gaining in importance throughout our everyday lives, and I think he is merely reflecting this trend. I'm used to seeing Abe Lincoln with a tall-hat, but times change.

William Hendrickson, Graduate College, Romance Languages: Seems to me he should have the right to choose his own attire, since he is the president. Eisenhower, remember, switched from a top hat to a Homburg and this is just a continuation of that trend.

Mrs. Harvey Cahn, 486 Ewing Street, housewife: I feel President Johnson should wear what he wants to at his inauguration.

Arthur Royson, Trenton, engineer for state highway department: I don't think he is following protocol of the past years but it is an indication of the type person he is: a Texan who likes to wear casual clothing. I don't believe they go in for formal wear in that part of the country and I feel Johnson is just being himself.

Mrs. Franklin Steele, Mason Drive, housewife: I don't know if he has any theory behind it, to please the common people or not but, personally, I think he should dress for the occasion.

Mrs. Anita Bergh, Monmouth Junction, editorial assistant for Princeton University: I think a top hat and formal attire look fancier and more interesting and I think it would be nicer, perhaps, if he wore them but I don't feel very strongly about it.

William Moffett, Hamilton Square, salesman: I kind of like the idea. It will make a more friendly affair out of it. Johnson will mix in with the people instead of standing out as he would if he wore all that formal stuff.

Mrs. Wilma Noonan, Titusville, housewife: President Johnson strikes me as being a very down to earth, unaffected man, one who doesn't like to go in for a lot of folderol. I think it is in keeping with his personality. I feel it is a good thing. They're down to earth people—both of them.

David Phillips, 45 University Place, graduate student, sociology: I think he should wear a suit; I think it is a break with the past.

Mrs. James Schureman, Cedar Lane, housewife: I don't approve. I'd like to see him wear the traditional attire because it's... it's traditional. I hope he changes his mind.

Stephen Richardson, Princeton Theological Seminary, student: I'd say it is characteristic of him—part of his homey-folksy approach to people in general. I'd probably be surprised to see him in a top hat and formal dress.

Miss Patricia Brown, Levittown, Pa. payroll office, Princeton Hospital: I think he is trying to meet with the common people, the people of today. I don't disapprove—that's his decision. It's just like any other job: you wear whatever you feel is best suited for that job.

Terry Bynum, Graduate College, philosophy: I think every president has the right to establish his own image and I think every president likes to establish a certain exclusive image of himself in the minds of the public. His clothes play an important part in that image and a president certainly should have the right to choose what he wears.

SUB-TITLES CAN BE A HEADACHE, according to Leo Drafield, importer of foreign films. "The English subtitles for 'Woman in the Dunes' were made in Japan, but we had to re-do them. The British have longer sub-titles than the Americans. I don't know whether or not the British public can read faster, but their sub-titles are not acceptable here!" Story, this page. (Staff Photo) of the cottage shovels sand in to buckets at night when the wind is still. She tells him that if no sand comes out of the pit, no food will be sent back in return.

News Of The Theatres

The situation is nightmarish. The story develops, with a series of fascinating details, the battle for survival and the relationship of the man and woman. The moving sand, as moody as the sea, is photographed with an almost hypnotic effect.

"Woman of the Dunes" will be Japan's official entry for an Academy Award. It has been named by Bosley Crowther of the N.Y. Times as one of the ten best films of 1964.

The Pumpkin Eater (opens next Wednesday) stars Anne Bancroft, who won an Oscar two years ago for her sensitive acting in "The Miracle Worker." Here she is cast in the unsympathetic role of a highly neurotic woman.

The lady's major problem is that she is over-fond of having children. She has roughly a dozen after three marriages. Her third husband, when she achieves pregnancy again, convinces her that an abortion is in order in the interests of her health (she has fits of depression).

She agrees, goes all the way by becoming sterilized, and then discovers that her husband is a philanderer. So it goes.

EYEFING THE MARKET

For Art Films. Garden Theatre patrons who see "Woman in the Dunes" may not know that a Princeton resident had a hand in bringing it here.

Leo Drafield of 81 Harris Road is a partner in Pathe-Contemporary Films, which has been playing its hunches on foreign-made movies for the past 18 months. "Woman in the Dunes," considered an artistic and financial success, is the first of its full-length imports to appear in Princeton.

"It is the sort of film every adult sees something in," he says contentedly.

Double-Guessing. "When you bring a film into this country, you take a gamble at double-guessing the critics. It'll cost as much as $25,000 to prepare it for distribution—translators, sub-titles, prints and so on.

You pay an advance to the film-maker. And just in launching a foreign film in New York (where the critics can make it or break it), your advertising budget can be $20,000 to $25,000."

A New York commuter, Mr. Drafield gave an insider's view of the art film world the other day from his home, where he lives with his wife, three children, a dog, projector and screen.

"Woman in the Dunes" will be a money-maker, he believes, but not by Hollywood standards. "The major distribution companies won't handle art films. Each firm may book into some 2,000 theatres, and they are concerned with getting the Hollywood Seal of Approval. Too many of the art films have an adult theme."

The drive-ins, he added, seldom play a sub-titled film. This leaves the art film houses, and Pathe-Contemporary books in to 300 to 500.

"We're interested in good art films. There's a growing audience . . . more film societies, more serious students of filmmaking in the colleges." When he says "we," he means his long-time partner, Duncan McGregor, who represents Pathe in this country, and his hospitable, bi-lingual wife. (He's resigned to hearing his kids moan "Oh, no!" when he rolls out the projector.)

"The films people want are escape," he says. "Even when I can't understand a word of . . ."

pink, gold and lime print. The lime pants go with an open-collared shirt of turquoise, lime and emerald, the orange pants (these are hopsacking) blend right in to an orange-juice hopsacking jacket with turned-up sleeves and raspberry wool scribbles up both sides of the front.

While we're in the fruit market, how about the silk shirt divided in half, with bright, bright cherry on one side and pale, pale cherry on the other? Separate tight pants are maize, raspberry, melon, grape.

Stacy customers right off the deep end with a black mesh bathing suit done with a deep front V and mesh on the sides. Who wants to stay in the water in that one!

Elisabeth Stewart's navy stretch tank trunks have a bubbly top of white "lace" ruffles to keep you afloat and in view. Another two-piece suit is white with bright melon vertical stripes, each one a different length from the other.

One of Fliegelman's happiest inspirations — a white diamond waffle pique — makes an unlimited set of separates. A long, long overblouse edged with an inch of white eyelet, covers the top of a straight white skirt, and so does a white pique jacket with a low U neck edged demurely with a ruffle.

There are also slacks, shorts and a skirt which has two very deep inverted front pleats and no skirt band.

Shifts! Wild tropical prints from last year are wilder and more tropical than you ever saw before. Buy dark glasses all around! Your solid shift can be in lime, orange or pale pink poplin with a deep attached hood. Or it could be the raspberry pink texture with its low belt and the low collar with oval tabs that look like a beagle's ears.

Our favorite shift is silk with an emerald and navy lattice design. Below the bodice, the blue horizontal stripes stop and you have green vertical stripes from there on down.

WE'RE FOR SNOW

So's Ski. A wolf parka at The Ski has the kind of shaggy glamour that can swagger off the slope as well as down it. We mean "wolf," too: it's the real undyed fur, tawny, dark-streaked and spectacular.

Next, on the fur rack, The Ski shows a three-quarter coat, slim as a seal and made of just that, in silver, with a belt and single-breasted closing. The creamy India lamb is silky, much more so than domestic lamb, and not so tightly curled as Persian. Belt is optional on this zip-front jacket.

Ernst Engel's coordinated stretch suits combine pants and sleek hip length jacket anchored with double-spaced hammered brass buttons. Colors are "earth," a kind of warm brown-olive, and black. Skaters will swirl into the pleated jersey skirts, and apres-skiers will curl into the cut velour skirt, long and warm to the ankles and almost like a mellow tapestry in the fire-light. Cut velour appears again, brighter this time, with primary color flowers against black in a zip jacket. These garments are handmade in Aspen especially for The Ski, and who knows? Maybe you'll be taking them right back home.

At the moment, of course, The Ski would like to send you to Aspen's neighbor, Vail, on a seven-day jet excursion whose rates include plane fare, coach from Denver to Vail, three days of ski instruction, breakfast and dinner for seven days, unlimited use of lifts, and so on. Four in a room: $319, two in a room, $349.

Back in the 20 Nassau shop, we remind you that The Ski sells, rents and services all ski equipment, and provides up-to-the-last-snowflake reports on ski conditions everywhere except Bermuda. And that may not be too far away: the shop plans to go in-to surfing in the spring.

NOT DOMESTIC WINE!
Of course, imported and domestic red wines will both be on the list. No anobbery. Burgundies and clarets selected for the Princeton Symphony Benefit Wine Tasting will be chosen on the basis of excellence rather than geography. The guest list will be select, too: subscribers to the Princeton Symphony will be given first choice on tickets, but some tickets will be held for the general public. They may be obtained by writing to the Princeton Symphony, P.O. Box 455.

The Wine Tasting will be held at 91 Prospect Avenue from 5-7 p.m. Saturday, February 13. Besides the wine, there will be assorted cheeses to match, and an accompaniment of Viennese waltzes and gypsy airs.

Artists from the Princeton Art Association will offer cartoons on wine tasting for the tasters to look at while they sip, and there will be an old wine press, grapes and wine barrels for decor.

Members of the wine selection committee are Christian II. Aull, Samuel G. Frantz, William J. Baumol, Paul Benetraf, James J. Kerney Jr., Michele Balinski and Lucius Wilmerding III.

YOUNG GOP TO RALLY
In Day-Long Session. The Mercer County Young Republicans will be host to the monthly meeting of the Young Republicans of New Jersey

A RATHER AMUSING LITTLE CLARET. DON'T YOU AGREE? Christian II. Aull (left) and Michele Balinski compare labels before making a final choice. Both are on the selection committee for the Princeton Symphony's benefit Wine Tasting to be held February 13.

Saturday at the Princeton Inn. The meeting, open to the public, begins at 10 a.m. and continues throughout the day.

A panel discussion, "Princeton Education," will be held at 2 p.m. by Charles McManus of the ACA and State Senator John Hunt (Rep.-Gloucester County). "The Republican Party and Mass Media" will be reviewed at 3:30 by Rowland Evans, New York Herald Tribune, and Stan Evans, Indianapolis News. The state unit will meet in the morning.

Mayors of the local municipalities will be present, as well as former United States Senator H. Alexander Smith. Princeton Borough Mayor Henry S. Patterson will welcome the group. Reservations are necessary for the 12:30 luncheon and cocktail party at 5:30. Payment of $7.00 may be sent to Philip Lloyd, 986 S. Broad Street, Trenton.

TO HOLD LUNCHEON

For Republican Women. The Women's Republican Club of Princeton will hold its annual midwinter luncheon at the Princeton Inn on Monday, January 25, beginning at 12:30. Mrs. Anna Morford, chairman of the Monmouth County Board of Elections, will be the guest speaker. A film entitled "Political Party Volunteers" will be shown prior to her talk. Reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Burton Weishecker of 16 Westerly Road.

ART TALK SCHEDULED
For Douglass Meeting. The Princeton area Douglass Alumnae Club will meet at the home of Mrs. George Reynolds at 123 McCosh Circle next Wednesday at 8.

Miss Suzanne Rudy, a lecturer at Douglass, will give a talk and show slides on primitive art. Miss Rudy is an associate member of the Princeton Art Association.

the dialogue, I can tell whether the film has the qualities we are looking for."

Out of dozens previewed in Paris last fall, Mr. Dratfield returned with two, a French film, "Le Poulet" and a Spanish farce on the housing shortage to be entitled "The Hangman" or "The Executioner."

Short Start. "When I look over our catalogue, the better films come from abroad. In Europe, the experimental short films are subsidized through monetary awards.

"They're a stepping stone to full-length movies. 'La Sourire,' made in 1960 by Serge Bourguignon, paved the way for his full-length 'Sundays and Cybelle,' which has had great success.

"The short subject is a stepchild in this country. Many theatres need a ten-minute filler, and they don't care what it is. But the Prudential circuit, which books for the Garden and the Playhouse, goes out of its way to find good shorts."

It was Prudential which forwarded a prized letter from Katharine Chamberlain of 24 Bank Street. She commented on a short with no dialogue, "Old Stringbean," seen at the Garden. "It was a delight to see a commonplace idea of an old lady growing a stringbean tree turned into an ingenious, subtle production."

Chaplin's Teacher. "Some-day," says Mr. Dratfield hopefully, "we are going to bring in the films made by the late Max Linder—the one man Chaplin has publicly acknowledged as his mentor."

"It is really sad that this man has never received the plaudits he deserves. Linder's films, made in Paris by Pathe around 1905, all silent, are the type of humor Chaplin was later credited for."

Free Reeling. Twenty years ago, after serving in the Office of War Information, Mr. Dratfield and his partner formed Contemporary Films, distributing 16mm prints.

"As a boy, I wondered what happened to films, once they made the rounds. Looking into it, I discovered that there's a whole world of libraries, colleges and film societies."

About 50 full-length and an equal number of shorts are in the 35mm Pathe-Contemporary files, but some 2,000 titles are in the 16mm Contemporary catalogue.

"The Princeton Library has a wonderful collection, you know. They have 16mm films of a cultural nature."

"For instance, a small library like Princeton can't afford to buy a print such as 'The Titan,' the story of Michaelangelo which won a 1948 Academy Award. But it can club with other libraries, buy 'The Titan' and many other excellent films. They preview in committees throughout the year. A new box of about 16 films arrives at the library each month.

"And the wonderful thing is that these films can be borrowed for free!"

8-oz. Jar—Cream

12-oz. Bottle—Lotion

True, in Great Grandmother's days, old women did put rosewater on their faces to make them look younger. This was considered witchcraft. When mixed with glycerine the rosewater and glycerine mixture quickly made skin softer, smoother and drove dryness away. Now, TRITLE'S Original Solidified Glycerine and Rosewater is much more effective than the liquid mixture Great Grandmother used. Greaseless, too. It transforms unhappy, aging, lined skin into a fresh feeling, more youthful looking complexion. Soothes and smooths rough hands almost instantly. There is also a new cream lotion that's greaseless, too. They are both delightful. Your choice, cream or lotion. Special offer. Regular $2.00 jar or bottle, $1.39 pl.tx.

I have long been a great admirer of your marvelous paper. It is the best thing that ever happened to us bargain hunters.

I have been in Princeton for only one year and not knowing that Town Topics came free to residents of Princeton, I have been borrowing it each week from friends. Yesterday I was informed that this "goldmine" will be delivered to your door simply for the asking. I am, therefore, asking.

I look forward to many happy hours of bargain hunting. You do a wonderful job with your paper; keep up the good work!

Progress in Open Space.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The recent generous gift of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Eno of 22 acres to the Township is a dramatic example of a means by which public-minded citizens can contribute to the preservation of the beauties of Princeton. This is an outright deed of the land, with the stipulation that it be used for passive recreation such as walking and picnicking. It is a fine beginning in building up acreage in the southwestern part of town comparable to the Herrontown Woods in the northeastern section.

In April of 1964, Mr. and Mrs. John Poe deeded 80 acres in the northwest section to the Township. Along with a life interest in the property was given the option to buy it at a future date. More active recreational pursuits are permitted on this land.

Another gift made since the formation of the Open Space Commission came from Lawrence Green. He is giving approximately 12 acres of land over a five-year period, one fifth each year, in the Brookstone-Stooy Brook area.

Citizens who do not have land resources but wish to further the Open Space concept may donate to a fund, already started by an anonymous donor, for this purpose.

The Open Space Commission is deeply appreciative of these encouraging acts. We welcome discussion on methods by which private citizens may help in acquiring the 2500 acres which is the optimum in order for a community of this size to preserve some measure of its great heritage of beautiful land and natural resources.

Trees Are "Priceless"

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Several years ago when Prospect Avenue was put through from Riverside West with Prospect Avenue Extension, many people marveled at the large and beautiful trees which lined both sides of the new road, making it one of the loveliest in Princeton. Few realized that the beauty which we enjoy today was due to the initiative of one man. Walter B. Howe, owner of the old estate of Riverside planted the saplings 35 years ago along the proposed route of Prospect Avenue, then only a dirt driveway and a dotted line on the Township map.

Though Mr. Howe never lived to drive down the finished road, its grandeur in all four seasons is a fitting memorial to his appreciation of nature, his foresight, and his generosity in giving to future Princetonians a gift which is already priceless.

40 Year's Experience

PEOPLE In The News

James Baer, a Princeton High School senior who has just returned from a year of study in Argentina, has found two or three major changes in his daily schedule. While he was south of the equator, school met only in the morning, and lunch was followed by a three-hour siesta.

His year in South America was sponsored by the American Field Service under its Americans Abroad program, and he lived in Mar del Plata, the Miami Beach of the Argentine, with Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Anonino, their 15-year old daughter, Ana Ester, and their son, Daniel, with whom he went to school. He took 11 subjects, but had classes in each course only two or three times a week.

The siesta was a new way of life, and Jim never did master the technique of sleeping away the afternoon. Instead, he occupied the time with guitar lessons, chatting with any wakeful member of the family, or television.

The American Field service reports that "Jim went to Argentina with no very great knowledge of the country, no preconceived notions about it or the people, and no Spanish. His schoolmates laughed at his first attempts at Spanish but took time to help him with it."

Jim found the parts of Argentina he visited very modern and a good deal like Europe. He was impressed by the friendliness and warmth of the people, as well as the enormous interest they took in him.

The PHS senior reports that it took nearly the first six months he was there for him to become a member of the family, to feel at home in the language and part of the school. He left Mar del Plata with a deep affection for his "family" and an appreciation of the vitality and enthusiasm of the people of Argentina.

Mrs. Marie H. Katzenbach of a Stanworth Lane has resigned after 43 years of service from the State Board of Education. The 82-year-old widow of Edward L. Katzenbach, former New Jersey attorney general, will continue as a consultant on education to Governor Richard J. Hughes.

Mrs. Katzenbach, who has been president of the board since 1955, may hold a national record for service on a state board, according to Dr. Frederick M. Raubinger, New Jersey's education commissioner. She was first appointed to the state board by the late Governor Edward I. Edwards in 1921.

Mrs. Katzenbach is the mother of Nicholas deB. Katzenbach, acting United States attorney general. Governor Hughes said his first inclination was to refuse Mrs. Katzenbach's resignation but decided to accept it after discussing the matter with her son. Mrs. Katzenbach has been recovering from an automobile accident that occurred on September 10.

Carl H. Ruopp, son of Mrs. Gertrude I. Ruopp of 43 Humbert Street, has been elected treasurer of his graduating class at Valley Forge Military Academy, Wayne, Pa. Cadet Ruopp holds the rank of staff sergeant in the 1,150-member cadet corps.

William T. Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Henderson of 167 Laurel Circle has been graduated from the officers' basic course at Marine Corps School in Quantico, Va. Mr. Henderson took part in the instruction program for 26 weeks.

William L. Wilson of 225 Jefferson Road attended a community leaders' seminar sponsored by the Foreign Policy Association of New York City. Mr. Wilson, who is vice-president of the C.I.T. Financial Corporation in New York and a member of Princeton Township Committee, discussed the role of the United Nations in United States foreign policy with about 100 community leaders.

Two Princeton residents have been awarded honor roll standing at the Solebury School in New Hope, Pa. They are Eliza Hobson, daughter of Mrs. Wilder Hobson of 94 Valley Road, and Lucien Peebles, son of Mrs. Cary T. Peebles of 5 Greenview Avenue and Bernard M. Peebles of Washington, D.C. Both students are seniors.

The New Jersey Music Educators Association has appointed Dr. Edward F. J. Eich-

FLU SHOTS IMPORTANT?

Yes, Says Dr. Burns. If you have never taken influenza vaccine shots or if you have neglected to get a booster shot, do so without delay, says Dr. Joseph R. Burns, president of the Mercer County Component Medical Society.

According to Dr. Burns, there are three groups of people who are especially urged to get the appropriate flu protection this year: all those over 65, all pregnant women, and persons of any age with chronic illnesses that are adversely affected by cold weather.

Recent changes in the weather have brought a higher incidence of minor and severe colds and various types of influenza, Dr. Burns pointed out. He urged anyone in vital positions who can ill afford absences and those who work out of doors during the winter to get flu protection.

NEW YEAR, OLD PROBLEM

No One to Help Bradley. When Princeton plays at Cornell at Ithaca Saturday night, it will face a team with four players averaging in double figures. The Tigers will have Bill Bradley, and while no one around here would trade him for any four at Cornell, the fact is emerging that Princeton is again pretty much of a one-man team.

If major assistance were forthcoming from one player one night and another the next, it would provide a degree of balance to the Tigers' attack. But against Yale on Friday and Brown 24 hours later, only two players hit for as many as ten points: Ed Hummer against Yale and Don Rodenbach against Brown.

On a two-night basis, these were the totals of the four players who saw most of the action with Bradley: Bob Harlow: 8-9-17; Don Rodenbach: 6-10-16; Ed Hummer: 10-2-12; Gary Walters, 4-2-6. Bradley, who was colder than he has ever been in the Yale game, still shot 21 against the Elis and then scored almost at will against Brown with 38, contributing 43% of the points the Tigers made against their two Ivy opponents. His total of 59 in the two games was barely matched by the five next highest scorers combined: Harlow, Rodenbach, Hummer, Walters and sophomore Al Adler.

Big hope against Cornell, which had five players in double figures against both Dartmouth and Harvard, and hit for a great 58% from the floor against the Crimson, is that the Ithacans aren't much on defense. They topped 100 against Syracuse last week, but the losers were above 90, and so was Dartmouth, which the Red defeated, 95 to 81.

Ithacans Have Height. Steve Cram, 6-7, is the tallest of a number of big Cornell players, but 6-2 Bob DeLuca and 5-10 Dave Bliss have the best shots. These three and 6-5 Gerry Munson are all averaging better than ten points a game as Cornell has taken the Ivy lead, winning eight against two losses overall.

The Ithacans' weakness, in addition to questionable ability on defense, is the lack of any take-charge player. They have a tough game Friday against Penn, but Princeton must travel from New York to Ithaca after playing Columbia, and winning the second road game on successive nights is always a rugged assignment for any Ivy team, including one that can count on Bill Bradley.

It was, of course, the second game of the same road trip that saw Princeton go down to an astonishing defeat last winter. Meeting the same teams in reverse order, the Tigers outshot Cornell at Ithaca, 87 to 82, and then were levelled by a fired-up Columbia quintet, 69 to 66.

Princeton will have a height advantage over the Lions Friday night, but must stop the good outside shooting of Neil Farber, Ken Benoit and Stan Feisinger. The big man is 6-5 Art Klink, a senior who at 21

Princeton basketball fans have a choice in following Friday's Columbia game at home: they can hear it on the radio at 8 or watch it on television at 9:30. Or they can spend three hours, and do both.

A tape of the game will be screened on WPIX Channel 11, starting at 9:30. A live telecast of the Yale game at New Haven is scheduled over the National Broadcasting System Saturday, February 6, at 2 o'clock.

is looking forward to celebrating his fifth wedding anniversary next December.

ELIS WERE STUBBORN And Very Nearly Won. Yale had the last shot with the score tied at 50-50 in regulation time, and with Princeton ahead at 57-56 in overtime. The Blue missed both, and that was all that saved the Tigers from losing to their Big Three rivals in Dillon Gym for the third time in four years.

derstandable let-down from the pace and pressure of its Madison Square Garden games with Michigan and Cincinnati. Bill Bradley was colder than anyone around here had ever seen him: four points, all on free throws, in the first half, no field goal until seven minutes were gone in the second.

Both teams made an almost ceaseless parade of mistakes (balls thrown away, inadequate rebounding, ill-advised shots, unnecessary fouls) but in the end, it was the presence of one player of superior ability who made the difference. Bradley kept the Tigers in the game by scoring 13 of their last 15 points, made all seven they got in overtime, and won the contest with a three-point play that changed a 56-54 deficit into a 57-56 victory.

Like a 25-game winner in baseball who once in a season is so short of his normal touch that he is clobbered for half a dozen runs in the first inning, Bradley could do nothing right in the opening half against Yale. He missed all seven field goal attempts, and a couple of largely inexperienced Ells who took turns guarding were looking like all-Americans.

Lead Seesaws. No team ever led by more than four points in the slow-paced but tense contest. The Tigers had a chance to win when they took possession with 11 seconds left and the score tied at 50-all, but Yale stole the ball on a pass-in to Bradley and very nearly won on a jumper that hit the rim from 15 feet out.

The visitors led twice in the extra period, but Bradley countered with a jumper, two free throws and then the vital three-point play with 29 seconds left. Virtually overlooked in the uproar created by the near-upset was the fact that his 21 points gave him an Ivy career total of 870—six more than the mark set at the end of the 1962 season by Pete Campbell.

Brown No Problem. Bradley's touch returned the moment the Brown game began Saturday, and by the end of the first half he had bucketed ten of 13 floor shots and five fouls for 25 points. The Tigers had a 44-31 lead and clear sailing.

Princeton shooting improved from 40% against Yale to 55% against Brown, with the Tigers also dominating the rebounds, 36 to 20, after taking down only 44 to Yale's 56. Big Robby Brown sprained an ankle early in the Yale game and did not see further action last weekend, but will be ready to start against Columbia Friday.

TIGERS FACE DARTMOUTH
Ivy Champions Here. A Dartmouth hockey team which won the Ivy title in 1964 when it went from last place to first in the course of a single season will play Princeton Saturday at 2 in Baker Rink.

Topflight action is in store, because the improved Tigers already hold a non-league victory over the Green this year and the visitors will be out to avenge that setback. After spotting the Indians a three-goal lead early in the first period, Princeton rallied for a 5-3 decision in a holiday tournament at Buffalo.

Dartmouth has started slowly this year, partially because it plays only two December games before exams begin and to some degree because of overall defensive problems. However, the Green began the week with a 4-2 record, and last Saturday achieved a major triumph when it won a 5-4 overtime game from offense-minded Yale on the Elis' ice.

Sophomore Bill Smoyer, who got the hat trick against the Princeton freshmen a year ago, has been skating on Dartmouth's first line. Charlie Stuart, a Princeton resident as is Smoyer, starts on defense for the Ivy champions and in his first year on the varsity last winter put in more game time than any other skater.

McMorris Scores Twice. Mac McMorris, who scored only once as a sophomore defenseman for Princeton last season, already has three goals to his credit this year. After getting his first against Providence last week, he added two more in the Cornell game Saturday at Ithaca.

Both of them came in the first period, George Peterson getting an assist on one and McMorris making the other on a solo effort three seconds before the round ended. The home team had the better of the going, however, taking a 4-2 lead into the locker room after 20 minutes and raising this to 7-2 with a three-goal outburst in the next period.

Shots on the goal were virtually even — 33 for Cornell, 32 for Princeton. The Ithacans had an edge in depth, almost all of it Canadian. Of the top 20 players on their squad, 17 are Canadian, something of a travesty on Ivy League hockey.

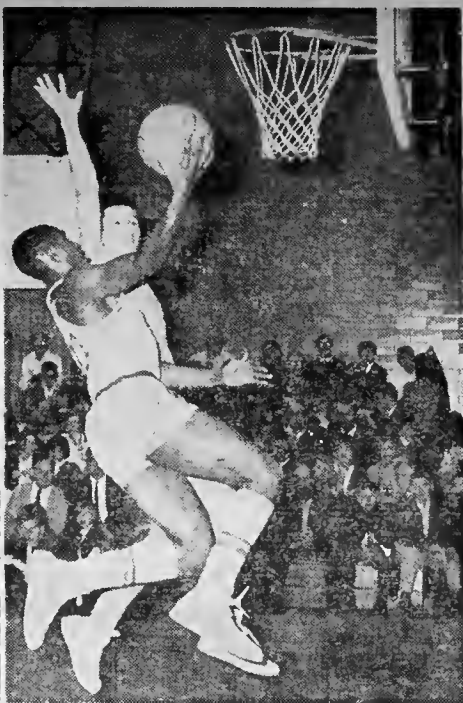

Princeton was scheduled to play Rensselaer Poly Wednesday night, and will shut down for exams following the Dartmouth contest. The Tigers will renew action here on Thursday, January 28, against Boston College.

PHS ON THE ROAD

After loss to Madison. Following its 73-69 loss to Madison here Friday evening, the Princeton High School basketball team will play six of its seven games on the road. In seven away games last year, the Little Tigers won only three. They are 1-1 on the road in the current season.

Friday evening at 8, PHS will invade Bridgewater-Raritan High School, against which it scored a sparkling upset in December in the opener for both schools. Since then, the Golden Falcons, led by 6-8 Mike Grosso, an allstate selection, have lost only one and, unquestionably, they will be eager for revenge. Tuesday afternoon will find the Blue and White at Somerville where the Pioneers have always been difficult to upend on their court.

Friday evening, it was close all the way but the visitors got the cigar. With 30 seconds to go and the score tied at 69-all. Madison's ace Wayne Dopp hit for two quick baskets to score his 27th point and nail down Madison's fifth victory in eight starts. The loss also left PHS with a 5-3 record.

"One of Those Things," PHS coach Tony Borzok shrugged off the defeat with "it was just one of those things. That's the way basketball goes. The kids feel bad enough themselves—leading all the way and then losing right at the end." "All we can do is start all over again. How many more games do we have to play? Fifteen. How many more will end like this one? You never know in this game."

With half a minute to go, PHS, in possession of the ball, called time. Said Tony, "Everybody in the place knew what we were going to do. Play for one shot."

"But someone got mixed up and shot early. The house was packed, there was a lot of noise, the kids get excited—these things happen," said Tony in extenuation. "They played a good ball game."

Hines Gets 22. For Princeton, Wilbur Hines, played an outstanding game, according to Borzok. Hines was high for PHS with 22, the sixth time in eight contests he has scored 20 or more.

"Hines is always in the 20's," said Borzok, "but it is his assists that help. He would have all those points for himself if he didn't pass off."

Captain Pete Heiberger followed with 20 points, tying his second best effort of the season. In scoring 13 points, Colin Leitch fell below his average of 20.7. But, as Borzok pointed out, Leitch devoted most of his time trying to defend Dopp and while Colin was only partially successful in this, he did limit Dopp to 27 versus the 39 he tallied against PHS a year ago.

"Dopp has a fantastic touch. He's just got it and there's not much you can do about it," said

Borzok. Leitch also led the team in rebounds with 20. The only other Little Tiger to score more than two was Mike Underwood who had six.

HUN EDGES PERKIOMEN

In Last Period, 52-49. The Hun School basketball team outscored visiting Perkiomen Saturday evening at the Princeton Seminary gymnasium in the last period, to earn a hard-fought 52-49 victory. The win, Hun's second without a defeat, was also its second Penn-Jersey League triumph.

Ahead lie key league contests with Solebury, Saturday at 6:30 at the Seminary gym, and with Pennington School, its area rival, next Wednesday at Pennington. Hun was also scheduled to play George School on Wednesday of this week and coach Bob Simpson reported that if his team managed to get by that one, it might have a good chance of capturing league honors. Last year, George School defeated Hun twice.

Behind most of the way against Perkiomen, Hun tied the score at the end of the third period, setting the stage for its successful last period showdown. "They were shooting very well," said Simpson, "and it took us a while to catch up."

Mike Miller and co-captain Scott Page combined for 40 Hun Points, Miller hitting for 22. Co-captain Mike Leon contributed seven, including a pair of clutch free throws near the end of the contest. Paul Vogel played an outstanding defensive game and rebounded well for the Red and Black.

In winning, Hun accomplished something it was unable to in 1964: take two in a row. Simpson recalled the unusual record, saying: "Last year, it was win-lose, win-lose all season. Now that we've won two in a row right at the start, it might give us that extra incentive."

Only the Feds Will Know

In the inflated world of six figure bonuses reportedly being paid to college football players, Cosmo Iacavazzi, Princeton's All-American fullback, is credited by New York newspapers with having received $100,000 from the New York Jets.

While no statement has understandably been made by the Jets captain or anyone closely associated with him here, the word is that a far more reasonable estimate of his income for turning pro is $30,000; a $15,000 bonus and a $15,000 salary for the 1965 season.

Incidentally expectations are that the Jets will use Iacavazzi as an inside runner because of his quick starting ability and speed. His current ranking fullback, Ohio State's Matt Snell, to the outside. As a member of the Jets, Cosmo will be able to enroll as a graduate student in aeronautical engineering here, doing limited work in the fall term and pursuing a full curriculum in the spring.

en's Squash Backsets tournament will be held in Princeton next week.

Play will begin at Pretty Brook Club on Thursday. The championship round is scheduled for Saturday.

CRANBURY BANK ON TOP
In Adult Basketball, Cranbury National Bank, with a 4-0 won-lost record, is in first place in the adult basketball league sponsored by the Hightstown and East Windsor YMCA.

In a tight race for the top spot, three other teams were no more than a game out of first. The Peddie School faculty had a 3-0 record, Old Hights Hotel was 3-1 and McGraw Hill was 4-2.

Phil Moody of Cranbury has 162 points for four games to lead the individual scorers. He is followed by Joe Diefenbach of Old Hights with 137. Diefenbach scored 38 points in Old Hights' 67-63 loss to McGraw Hill last week.

In Cranbury's 144-26 rout of Pharmacraft Laboratories, Moody collected 52 points and two of his teammates surpassed the 30-point mark. Next week, Peddie will play Cranbury at Peddie to begin the second round of league play.

BOWLING NOTES

Pete and Mike Winners. Eleven individuals bowled games of 200 or better as Pete and Mike clinched the first-half championship in the "B" League. The winning team had a total of 42 points, beating Renwick's by four points and Maul Electric by five.

Fred Proccacini led the individual scorers with a 255 game. He was followed by Ed Dayton, 235 and 201; Joe Baldino, 224; Vince Tufano, 200; Dick Fowler, 215; Sam Nini, 212; Claude Pinelli, 221; Vince Gregg, 205; Joe Proccacini, 203; and Wes Forman and Bob Sculerati, 200 each.

In the Nassau League, the Reformers and the Elks started off the second half play with three victories apiece and are tied for first place, each team with six points. Five teams are deadlocked for second place with two victories apiece.

Don Lovering, with 234 pins, edged Dick Fowler, 233, for scoring honors. Other leading bowlers: Charles Perpetua, 255; Vince Tufano, 224; DeWitt Boice and Ed Duncan, 211 each; Pete Honan, 210; Ernie Hunt, 202 twice; and Bob Sculerati, 202 once; and Kevin Delaney, 200.

Papp's Pro Shop, with 30 points, maintained a 2½-point lead in the Three-Man Classic League. Turney Motors was in second place, two points ahead of Princeton Recreation Center.

Joe Baldino bowled an outstanding series of 201-206-237 for a total of 664 pins, three more than Bud Cavanaugh totalled on games of 213, 214 and 234. Bill Cavanaugh had a 238 game; Elmer Perantoni, 216; Val Ranallo, 200; and Joe Trani, 200.

Princeton Number 1 Takes Title. With a week remaining in first-half play in the Tri-County Firemen's League, Princeton Number 1 has captured the half-season title. The winners have a total of 58 points, eight more than second place Kingston Fire Department.

Jack Petrone was the leading bowler on the basis of his 225 score, one pin better than Walt Coan. Other 200-plus bowlers were Elmer McHugh, 220; Ronald Ebeling, 211; Harry Kahny, 205; Bill Whitley, 204 and 202; and Jack Zinsmister, 203.

New Jersey Manni-Real Estate held a two-point lead, 64-62, over Merritt Insurance Agency in the Business Women's League. Lillian Burroughs again led individual scores with a 200 game and a 546 series, followed by Diane Fowler, 104; Carole Harris, 190; Connie Wible, 179; Eleanor Mansue, 176; Clarice Weidernhorn, 175; and Julia Ball, 170. Triple C, with 30 points led the Wildcats by nine in the YMCA Blue Angels League for 15-year-olds. Ken Grob bowled a 185 game, Tom Wood 154 and Hal Rhubart 145.

MUSIC In Princeton

LORIN HOLLANDER PLAYS
In Series I Concert. It was the night after a heavy snow; the roads were still hazardous but concert-goers who made the effort to reach McCarter Theatre Monday were well rewarded. For Lorin Hollander, the 20-year-old pianist, delivered one of the most spectacular programs in the history of Series I concert annals.

This was the program: Fantasia in C Minor K. 475 by Mozart Sonata No. 30 in E Major, Op. 109 by Beethoven; Bagatelle, Op. 6 No. 12 by Bartok; Cadenza from Piano Concerto No. 2 by Prokofiev; (arranged by Mr. Hollander for concert performance) and "Pictures at an Exhibition" by Mussorgsky.

It would be difficult to recall any recitalist in the past three seasons who presented to Princeton audiences a program on so a high level as this one; every work a masterpiece, each piece a musical universe in itself, exposing the composers at the very height of their creative powers.

And the performances! It is no wonder critics acclaim this talented artist. Mr. Hollander performs each work with devotion to detail yet never loses the shape of the whole.

The Mozart Fantasy, played in memory of the late Edward Steuermann, would seem to serve as a case in point. The music is extremely varied in mood, contrasts abound in tempo, dynamic shading and expression. The work is one continuous movement. Mr. Hollander's playing gave the music cohesion and direction while maintaining beauty in the proportion of the dynamic range.

This sense of proportion did not carry with the same degree of success in all the works performed, however. This reviewer found some sections in the Mussorgsky "Pictures" too loud, namely the section entitled "Bydlo" and the beginning of the "Iut of Baba Yaga." It appeared from my vantage point in the audience that the tremendous ferocity of Mr. Hollander's attack on the Baba Yaga section created something of an anticlimax upon the entrance of the finale "The Great Gate of Kiev."

Other than this "splitting at hairs" the concert was a breathtaking experience for this listener. The Beethoven was an experience in itself. Mr. Hollander's technique would appear to know no bounds. The marvelous thing about the artist's performance of the late Beethoven Sonata is the amazing control he displayed, especially in the Variations. So much is going on in the music yet no voice seemed to dominate or cloud the message of the other.

The Bartok, by comparison to the other works on the program, provided a welcome contrast toward the lighter side of the evening, while the Prokofiev 2nd Concerto cadenza which Mr. Hollander arranged for concert displayed the lyric and the percussive styles of that great master.

In playing music of such power and substance, Lorin Hollander brought to the McCarter stage a vast degree of dynamic shading, a technical

Orchestra Acclaimed

The newly-formed Princeton Chamber Orchestra met with audience and critical acclaim Sunday when it gave its first concert in Philadelphia under sponsorship of that city's Musical Fund Society.

The Philadelphia Inquirer commented: "Its Princeton backers may feel proud. The ensemble under conductor Nicholas Harsanyi is a virtuoso troupe, at ease in any kind of music."

The Evening Bulletin said, "Seldom does a blue-chip organization pop up. This one is worth betting on. The music it plays and the way it plays it deserve a hearing anywhere."

The orchestra will be heard in Princeton on six different program dates this spring, and has scheduled its New York debut in Town Hall on April 7.

equipment quite equal to his task and the very highest standards of musicianship in his interpretations. . . His return to Princeton in the near future would be a more than a welcome: it would be an honor.

REMEMBER DAVE

Brubeck on Saturday. Original Brubeck by Brubeck will be on the program this Saturday when the jazz pianist brings his quartet to McCarter at 8:30.

Brubeck studied serious music in college, and after serving in the army, went to Mills College for work in composition with Darius Milhaud. It was at Mills that he formed the experimental jazz group known as "The 8," the group that sent him on his way as a leading force in contemporary jazz.

AMATEURS TUNING UP

For Randall Thompson, "The Peaceable Kingdom" by Randall Thompson will be sung at the next meeting of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs, scheduled for Sunday at 5 in the Woolworth Center of Musical Studies.

Dean J. Merrill Knapp will conduct, and the work will be sung a capella. Amateur singers who would like to attend should call Mrs. Melvin Gottlieb, 921-7214.

FOX TO PLAY

Pianist in Recital, Ralph H. Fox, professor of mathematics at Princeton, will give a piano recital at the Woolworth Center of Musical Studies, Room 110, Sunday at 3. The public is invited to attend, and no admission will be charged.

Dr. Fox will play from the works of Scarlatti, Mendelssohn, Fartein Valen, Ernst Krenek and Makoto Moroi.

CONTRALTO IS NEXT

In Westminster Recital, Florence Kopleff of the voice department, Westminster Choir College, will appear in recital next Tuesday at 8 in the Playhouse of the College. This will be the fourth in the current series of recitals by faculty members.

A contralto, Miss Kopleff was described after her 1954 Town Hall debut as "a fabulous contralto who sings with an effortlessness that is virtually scandalous; she is fucapable, apparently, of uttering a sound that is anything less than gorgeous."

Miss Kopleff has sung as soloist with the Robert Shaw Choral and has recorded with the Choral, the Boston Symphony Orchestra and Musica Aeterna. She has also performed at the Tanglewood Music Festival and at summer festivals in San Diego and Anchorage, Alaska.

PHS LOSES FOURTH

68-53 to Steiner. Princeton High School lost its second basketball game in four days and its fourth of the season Tuesday evening as Steiner topped the visiting Little Tigers, 68-53. The team has won five.

PHS got off on the wrong foot when three of its starters arrived late for the game. As a result, coach Tony Borzok's team fell behind 17 to 12 at the end of the first quarter and never was able to catch up to the Spartans, who won their fifth in nine starts.

Wilbur Hines and Captain Pete Heiberger shared scoring honors. Hines connecting for 19 and Heiberger, 16. Colin Leitch was far behind his usual output with four. It marked the first time this season that Leitch has failed to hit double figures.

Had PHS started at full strength, it is doubtful even then that it would have defeated the underdog home team. In the second half, Steiner outscored the Blue and White, 37-33. Only in the fourth period did the losers hold an edge and that was a thin 20-19 margin.

CYANAMID SPLITS

ETS Gains in Y League. When Cyanamid lost its second game in two years to Western Electric last week in the Princeton YMCA Research and Industrial League, Educational Testing Service benefited most of all. It took over first place without so much as moving a muscle.

After a two-week holiday break, Cyanamid defeated Astro, 77-53, two days after it had been tripped up by Western Electric, 56-35. One reason for the disparity was Cyanamid's star Bob Montgomery. Against Astro he hit for 21; against Western Electric he connected for a sub-par 14.

In other games, Hospital defeated RCA, 66-42, and Opinion Research Corporation fell before Post Office, 49-43. In the latter game, Bill Straker of the Post Office was high with 18, while Ray Tamasi led the losers with 17.

Bob Eaton led Western Electric to its impressive victory over Cyanamid by pouring in 19 points. High scorer for the week was Joe Cyhoski of Astro who hit for 27 in losing to Cyanamid.

GIRLS UNDEFEATED

In YMCA Swim Meets. The undefeated YMCA girls swimming team of Princeton won its fourth consecutive victory last week. The team captured 16 first places in individual events to beat the Shore Area squad, 121-81.

The boys team was less successful, losing its second meet in five to the Raritan Valley YMCA, 105½-84½. Individual winners were David D'Ateli and David Bush in diving events, Chuck Hector in the 25 - yard breaststroke and Douglas Mook in the 50-yard butterfly.

Among the winners for the girls were Nancy Burroughs, 200-yard individual medley and 100-yard backstroke; Dee Dee Henneman in the 25-yard freestyle; Carrie Bolster,

Bradley Nears 2,000

Bill Bradley, who sets at least two records every time he makes a point, will reach another major milestone this weekend — in all probability Friday night.

With 1981 career points to his credit, he needs only 19 to hit 2,000 — a figure few college players ever reach. Whether Columbus (where he will be playing Friday) will make the gesture of halting the game and presenting him with the ball on the occasion is a question that athletic officials on Morningside Heights have not yet answered.

25-yard breaststroke; Debbie Ryan, 50-yard breaststroke. Also Pat Hector, 100 - yard breaststroke and backstroke; Debbie Jillson, backstroke; Amy Cook, 25-yard butterfly; Jane Fremon, 50-yard butterfly; and Heidi Hoffman, 100-yard butterfly.

Members of the winning 200-yard medley relay team were Jill Agadjanian, Pamela Sorg, Debbie Ryan and Jane Fremon. The next meet for the boys is against Hackensack away and for the girls against Somerset Valley at home.

PLAY STARTS SATURDAY

In Junior High League. Play for members of the YMCA junior high basketball league will begin Saturday at 10 a.m. in the Princeton High School gym. The league will continue through March.

There are some openings left on all teams. Interested boys should contact the Y office on Avalon Place or attend the first session at the high school on Saturday.

EDITOR TO SPEAK

At Democratic Forum. Charles Lucey, editor of the Trenton Times newspapers, will speak at a meeting of the Princeton Township Democratic Forum Wednesday, January 27, at 8:30 in the Riverside School.

An authority on labor and economic affairs, Mr. Lucey will talk on the topic "What Kind of New Jersey Do We Want?" He will discuss factors which he believes are impeding the state's progress and will suggest possible solutions. The Trenton editor has covered every national political convention and presidential campaign during the past 20 years and has traveled to more than 40 countries. He began his newspaper career 38 years ago and has worked as Washington correspondent for the New York World Telegram. The public is invited to hear his talk.

The Democratic forum announced this week that John R. Yost Jr. has been named as its chairman, succeeding Harold Mantell. The latter resigned to become a candidate for the Township Board of Education. Mr. Yost is a former vice-chairman of the Forum, has served as a County Democratic Committeeman, as a member of the Township's Recreation Committee and was a candidate two years ago.

News Of The CHURCHES

MISSION OVER

Mission Renewed. "Tanganyika has always been so peaceful," a young missionary said the other day, "but there's no question that the attitude towards whites is subtly changing."

Miss Barbara Huber of Rosedale Road came home ten days ago after a "wonderful" two years as a teacher in St. Mary's School, Ndwiwa, in the Anglican Diocese of Masasi.

"There is such a big opportunity for Christianity here," she said the other day. "The young people of Tanganyika are sort of caught. They want most to get away from the villages — to live like the rest of the world."

"They have lost their village roots, their respect for the old traditions. And here is where the Church could step in and fill the void."

Miss Huber feels that now is the time for the "day-to-day" mission. "Instead of establishing missions or classes, we need couples to live among the Africans on a short-term basis — living as good Christians — as examples. This means, also, living along with your African counterpart. The separateness just has to go."

Anti-Americanism. Miss Huber had only one brief brush with hostility. "They said to the radio that every village was to have an anti-American demonstration. So the local leaders just got out and had one. They were told to — and they did it."

"The headmistress of St. Mary's gave me permission to talk to the girls before the demonstration. The girls were so confused . . . I told them that I was sure they'd find that in a couple of weeks the government would say it was all a mistake."

"They felt awkward and uncomfortable. They wrote me little notes, 'Don't worry, Miss Huber.' When the government retraction came through a few weeks later, they were terribly relieved. So was I!"

St. Mary's. Miss Huber thought happily to her first day at the school. "It was evening, during the dry season. I was so pleasantly surprised when I saw those sun-dried brick buildings on the top of the hill. The girls came running down to greet me. Right away, you felt at home! I had been briefed that they were going to say 'Shikamu,' and I was to answer 'Marhaba.' Miss Huber laughed. 'In the excitement, they said it so fast that I didn't recognize my cue. Somebody had to nudge me. Later on, when we got to know each other, the girls would say, 'Do you remember?'"

At first, Miss Huber's American accent was baffling to her students, accustomed to the crisp British of the other white teachers and the clergy. She taught 7th and 8th graders English, East Tanganyikan history (keeping one chapter ahead), and geography.

"People say to me, 'Tanganyika is so different—how did you adjust?' The answer is you don't adjust. You just flip over!"

"I learned so much from the Africans . . . their openness, friendliness, warmth. Most of the students were second, third, some even fourth generation Christians. A few of them were Moslems."

In our area, about 80% Moslem, the two religions lived harmoniously. In another area where an African catechist was making a strong evangelical effort, they met with a blank wall. They weren't even allowed to establish a school."

Old Mids. At 23, Miss Huber found that the 150 girls who board at St. Mary's enter at the age of 11 or 12 and leave about four years later. They speak at least two tribal languages, learning Swahili at school. "I think the next generation will learn Swahili at home." The girls begin to study English in third grade and all classes are in English by 7th grade.

"THE CHURCH HAS FIVE MORE YEARS IN AFRICA." Bishop Trevor Huddleston of the Diocese of Masasi, Tanganyika, said three years ago to Miss Barbara Huber who became a teacher in his school. "He's probably right," she says now. "Things are moving so fast." Story this page.

"We don't baptize at the school," she commented. "We want to be sure that the child has her parents' backing. If a child especially a girl, is a Christian in a Moslem household, it is a very difficult situation, especially when it is time for her to marry."

Miss Huber went on. "Twenty-three is on the shelf for an unmarried African woman. The problem is to give stature to women's careers. A big exam before they leave school decides their future."

"The top will go on to secondary school. The others can study nursing or teaching. The top girls head for jobs in government or industry after they finish the four years of secondary school. These are the cream of the crop."

"There aren't many girls who have gone on to the university. Here, again, is the marriage problem! But I think this will change, especially as the men more and more demand educated wives."

Changing Order. There were 30 whites working in the Diocese of Masasi, headed by Bishop Trevor Huddleston, a visitor to Trinity Parish in the past. Two of the clergy are leaving, partly to cut diocese expenses, partly because it is timely. A third clergyman, who came from England at the age of 19, is retiring 40 years later. Now a citizen of Tanganyika, he will continue to live there.

An English woman doctor, retiring after 31 years, has been replaced by an American. "I think the doctors will be the last to go," Miss Huber says. "The Africans just can't do without them." An African has been appointed assistant bishop. Others are being trained at the Anglican St. Crispian's Theological School, 50 miles from the coast.

Books For Kids. For Miss Huber's part, her goal is to work in publishing. "Somebody at Trinity sent us some brand new Golden Books, and the pupils loved them. Books are jolly at that age level."

The government supplies such uninteresting books for the schools — little pamphlets, really. Nothing to catch the eye, to stimulate a desire to learn.

"You know, when the children go on their five-week holiday, they won't see a written word, not even a street sign. When all those books came from Trinity, I just gave them away to be taken home. 'I'd like to do something about books for the children.'"

OFFICERS INSTALLED. By Kingston Women. Mrs. James Rowan, an elder in Second Presbyterian Church, Princeton and program chairman for the New Brunswick Presbyterian Society, officiated at the installation ceremony of the Women's Association of Kingston Presbyterian Church. Mrs. William Hilden-dorff continues as president.

and the Rev. E. Rugby Auer. They will discuss the second chapter of St. Paul's Epistle to the Ephesians.

Schweitzer. "The Affirmation of Albert Schweitzer" will be the topic of a sermon by the Rev. Robert Cope at 11 this Sunday in the Unitarian Church. The sermon honors Schweitzer's 90th birthday.

"With Song and Dance." Three high school students, Judith Epstein, Diane Goodheart and Margot Tobolsky, directed by Mrs. Elliot Abrams, will dance and the choir will sing this Friday at the traditional Shabbat Shirah at the Jewish Center of Princeton. The service, led by Rabbi Everett Gendler, begins at 8:15 p.m.

than 160 institutions of higher learning will be represented at a conference at the Nassau Inn next week sponsored by the American College Public Relations Association. The three-day meeting beginning on Tuesday is for colleges in the Middle Atlantic district.

The conference will deal with the theme "Trends 1965." Marvin W. Greenberg of Rutgers University is the chairman of the meeting.

Following an opening luncheon, there will be a workshop tour of Princeton University. On Tuesday night, Joseph R. Gorko, vice-president and managing director of Opinion Research Corporation's Public Opinion Index for Industry, will discuss public views of higher education.

Panel discussions will begin the following day and the conference will conclude on Thursday with a panel featuring college presidents, including Dr. Robert F. Goheen of Princeton. Conference chairmen at the meeting include Dan D. Coyle, assistant to President Goheen, and James E. Andrews of the public relations department at Princeton Theological Seminary. Mr. Coyle will preside over the concluding panel, "What The President Expects from Public Relations and Development in Light of Trends in Higher Education."

BEACH PAPERS ACQUIRED. By Princeton for Scholars. The collected papers of the late Sylvia Beach, a former Princeton resident and a friend of leading literary figures of this century, have been purchased by Princeton University. They will be made available to scholars within a year. Miss Beach, who died in 1962, lived in Princeton until the beginning of the 1920's when she moved to Paris and opened a book shop known as Shakespeare and Company on the Left Bank. She befriended a wide range of young literary artists, ranging from D. H. Lawrence to Princeton's F. Scott Fitzgerald, and is perhaps best known for publishing James Joyce's "Ulysses" in 1922.

The University acquired the collection, which includes letters, photographs and books, with the assistance of Mrs. Frederic J. Dennis of Greenwich, Conn., Miss Beach's sister, and with financial help from Graham T. Mattison, an international banker who graduated from Princeton in 1926.

Miss Beach was the daughter of the Rev. Sylvester Beach, also a Princeton graduate and for 17 years pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Princeton. Born in Baltimore in 1887, she lived in the white-frame parsonage on Library Place after moving with her family to Princeton in 1906.

The collection which is being arranged under the direction of Howard C. Rice Jr., an assistant librarian for the university, had been in Miss Beach's Paris apartment until last spring. Dr. Rice, who helped transfer the documents, said the collection should provide "a rich quarry for those interested in the literary figures" with which Miss Beach was associated.

Miss Beach's book shop was a favorite meeting place for writers of the so-called "Lost Generation." —Continued on Page 33

Obituaries

Captain Irwin D. Coyle (USN-Rel.), 80, of Centerville, Md., died January 7 in the House in the Pines, Easton, Md., following an illness of several months. He was the father of Dan D. Coyle of 11 University Place, Assistant to the President, Princeton University.

Captain Coyle was an active Naval officer for some 35 years. Born in Bridgeton, he attended Portland Academy, Portland, Ore., and was member of the class of 1906 at Princeton University. After completing his Princeton studies, he joined the United States Navy as a career officer in the Supply Corps.

A veteran of both World Wars, Captain Coyle retired in 1937 and was recalled to active duty the following year. From 1938 to 1945 he served on the staff of the Commandant of the Fourth Naval District, Philadelphia. During the First World War, he was on continuous convoy duty from the early summer of 1917 until the Armistice.

A resident of Centerville for the past 27 years, he was for some years interested in volunteer Red Cross work in Queen Anne's County. His club affiliations included the Rittenhouse Club, Philadelphia, the Princeton Club of New York and the Key and Seal Club, Princeton.

Also surviving are two sisters, Miss Virginia D. Coyle of Fairlawn, N. Y., and Miss Laura Coyle of Bridgeton and Greenwich, Conn.; two granddaughters, Mrs. C. Patrick Mundy Jr. of New York City and Miss Margaretta C. Coyle of Princeton, and a great-grandson. Captain Coyle's wife, the former Alice Coes, died in the summer of 1961.

The service and interment were held in Arlington National Cemetery, Va. Memorial contributions may be directed to the Irwin Coyle and Alice Coes Coyle Book Fund, Princeton University.

Raymond W. Salter, 71, of Rocky Hill Road, died January 10 in the East Orange Veterans Hospital.

A veteran of World War I, Mr. Salter was formerly employed by Princeton Nurseries.

Surviving are five daughters, Mrs. Grace Biddle and Miss Hilda Salter of Princeton, Mrs. Alice Patterson, Mrs. Doris Ranson and Mrs. Margaret Vaughn of Trenton; a sister, Mrs. Margaret Wooding of Princeton; 23 grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

The service will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday in St. Zion A.M.E. Church, Little Rocky Hill, the Rev. Tillman Oglesby officiating. Interment will be in the church cemetery under the direction of the Hughes Funeral Home.

Miss Sue L. Hopkins, 72, of 115 Linden Lane, died January 7 in Princeton Hospital.

Born in Tullytown, Pa., Miss Hopkins lived here for the past 15 years.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Thomas R. Murray of Princeton, and nieces and nephews. The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. James Lynn of Kingston Methodist Church officiating. Interment was in Lawrenceville Cemetery.

Mrs. Sophie Mey, 87, of North Post Road, Princeton Junction, died January 12 in a Neshanic nursing home. Born in Jersey City, she was the widow of Otto Mey.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Lefroy Johnson of Princeton Junction; a son, John G. Holler of Jersey City; a sister, Mrs. Charlotte Schumacher of Madison; four grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. James Weaver of Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Dutch Neck Cemetery.

Peter G. Pirrie, 74, of 1106 River Avenue, Point Pleasant, died January 10 in Princeton Hospital. He was the father of Mrs. Marianne Stollenberg of Kingston.

Mr. Pirrie retired in 1963 as editor of the Bakers Weekly in New York City. Born in Oakland, Calif., he was a graduate of Illinois Institute of Technology and held a master's degree in chemical engineering. He was a member of the American Chemical Society, Institute of Cereal Chemists, Institute of Food Technologists, American Society of Bakery Engineers and the Chemists and Engineers Club of New York.

Also surviving are another daughter, Mrs. Barbara Hepburn of Brooklyn; a sister, Mrs. Marvin Willimon of Tallahassee, Fla.; and two grandchildren.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. Robert N. Smyth of Trinity Church, Rocky Hill, officiating. Interment was at the convenience of the family.

Miss Elisabeth N. Askew, 97, died January 11 at Foot-hill Acres Nursing Home, Neshanic. She had lived at the Peacock Inn, 20 Bayard Lane. Born in Altoona, Pa., she had lived in Princeton for about 13 years.

Surviving are two nieces, Mrs. Barton Thomas of 162 Mercer Street and Mrs. James

Fair of Pittsburgh, Pa.; and a nephew, Henry Barton of 25 Springdale Road.

The service was held at the University Chapel, Dean Ernest Gordon officiating. Interment was at the convenience of the family. Arrangements were made by the Mather Funeral Home.

Mrs. Mary A. Douglass, 58, of 30 Race Street died January 9 in Middlesex General Hospital from injuries sustained in an automobile accident (See Topics of the Town). She was the wife of Henry A. Douglass.

Mrs. Douglass was born in Asbury Park, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. August E. Jensen.

Also surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Natalie Murray of Trenton; two brothers, Cedric Jensen of Trenton and Morgan Jensen of St. Albans, N. Y.; a granddaughter and a great-grandson.

The service will be held at 11 a.m. Thursday in Witherspoon Presbyterian Church, the Rev. James E. Andrews, interim pastor, and the Rev. Robert Speers of Trinity Episcopal Church officiating.

Interment will be in Princeton Cemetery.

Mrs. Maria R. Czarowski, 54, formerly of Princeton, died December 31 at her home in Athens, Greece. She was the sister of Jan A. Rajchman, 268 Edgemoor Road.

Mrs. Czarowski, a geographer, was the author of "An Atlas of Today and Tomorrow," "An Atlas of Far Eastern Politics," "A New Atlas of China," and "Europe, An Atlas of Human Geography." Her writings were signed Marthe Rajchman. She was co-author with Edgar A. Mowrer of "Global War: An Atlas of World Strategy," published in 1942.

Born in Cracow, Poland, Mrs. Czarowski graduated in 1929 from the International School, Geneva, Switzerland. She was the first woman to graduate from the Institut de Cartographie of the University of Paris. She became a United States citizen in 1949.

Also surviving are her husband, Vincent Czarowski of Athens; three sons, John of Philadelphia, Thomas, a graduate student of Princeton University doing work at Cambridge, England, and Nicholas of Athens; a sister, Mrs. Irene Balinska of New York City; her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Ludwik W. Rajchman of Paris, France, and a nephew.

Generation" during the 1920's and 1930's. Her collection includes correspondence and mementoes from Fitzgerald, Joyce, T.S. Eliot, Gertrude Stein and Ernest Hemingway to name but a few.

RECRUITMENT AID FAILS Designed to Aid Police. A bill authorizing all municipalities under $5,000 to hire policemen and firemen from outside the city limits so long as they lived within five miles of police or fire headquarters has failed to pass the State Legislature.

Mercer County's Assembly had backed the bill, similar to one passed to aid the recruiting problems of the Plainfield police, in an attempt to aid the Princeton Borough Police in hiring applicants who live in Princeton Township. It failed to pass in the Senate.

hardwood paneling
by Weyerhaeuser

Surround your family with the luxurious beauty of Weyerhaeuser Forestglo hardwood paneling. You'll enjoy the rich, natural color tones . . . the subtle variations of grain . . . the planked effect of V-grooving on the large work-saving panels — panels that install easily, even over present walls. And best of all, the beauty is protected with a special finish that will not chip, crack or yellow with age. To clean, just wipe with a damp cloth. Stop in soon and plan your interior with any of nine distinctive hardwoods.

EXECUTIVE'S HIDEAWAY

Thanks to well-planned landscaping and cooperative greenery, the minute you turn in the drive of this West End Borough charmer, you feel miles from anywhere; actually it's a pleasant walk to town. Walking through the front door is like walking into the garden. This illusion is created by the view from the hall through the glass window wall of the handsome living room to a delightful flagstone terrace with vine-entwined sunbreak and edging brick wall. The secluded grounds are beautifully treed (pines, mimosa, sassafras, tulip poplar, dogwood, pin oak — you name it), fenced completely (even partially underground for digging dogs) and include large tool shed, hidden drying yard and naturalized woody setting at the back.

The outside is hard to leave, but the house is nice to come into! Basic statistics: big living room, large dining plus sitting room, downstairs bedroom & bath, fine kitchen plus pantry/bar/flower room, marvelous laundry room, four bedrooms, two tiled baths, two car garage. Enhancing the basics are spectacular closets, storage and built-ins throughout, apple pie condition, and tasteful touches too numerous to describe with one irresistible exception: an enchanting, vine and climbing rose covered, perfectly private balcony off the master bedroom. Fairly priced.

Person To Person

An acquaintance remarked that it is odd that Death Valley, 276 feet below sea level, the lowest point in the U. S., is so close to the highest point, Mount Whitney (14,496 ft. high) that you can stand at the lowest point and see the top of the highest point. Alaska has several higher mountains though, with Mt. McKinley (20,300 ft.) the highest one in North America. Of course the highest point in the world is in Asia, Mt. Everest, with an altitude of 29,141 feet. It was not sealed until 1953, when a party of English and Nepalese climbers reached its zenith. Mountain climbing started in about 1850, when English sportsmen organized clubs for systematic climbing of the Alps. Today there are more than 250,000 enrolled in the various Alpine Societies in Europe, and perhaps another 50-75,000 members of mountain climbing clubs in North America. They say that once you experience the exhilaration of mountain climbing the sport has you "hooked." Conquering the summit of a mountain must bring the kind of buoyant feeling you can experience when you know you have been really well served and obtain a true bargain. This is the place to get that feeling! Please come in soon. Kammiller Buick-Pontiac Co., Route 206 opp. Princeton Airport, 921-2222.

DISCRIMINATING TASTE

If you are a person who knows the meaning of distinctive living, then you owe it to yourself to investigate this exceptional offer.

Each of the three bedrooms have fireplaces to cast their warm comfortable glow on winter evenings. The master suite has two dressing rooms and two baths adjoining the bedroom, while the two remaining bedrooms have their own private baths.

The large living room with hewn beam ceiling, barn siding walls, and fireplace is equally at home as an entertainment center for friends and guests or as a cozy family gathering place.

Kitchen, dining room, pantry, laundry, and spare room comprise the remaining living area, with ample space for storage and future expansion for office or live-in-domestic help. Price

Piece of property in Belle Mead. There are three buildings on one acre.

The main house is a six room (three bedroom), Cape Cod with a long front glassed-in porch, full basement and two car garage.

The second building is a five room bungalow with two bedrooms and an expansion attic. This bungalow could provide a supplemental income.

Building #3 is an attractive one room studio on the grounds. This property is ideal for the person who needs privacy for his work.

The price for all three is... $26,900

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

THE NORTH WIND DOETH BLOW . . . AND!

"We'll have winter bills snowing in !!! Just the way we did last year!"

That might be the complaint of a family with a fairly new—but not necessarily up-to-date—house. But it doesn't have to be so.

"We're trying to get the message across that you don't have to suffer through a Mr. Blandings' life. One of the greatest irritants and discomforts can be ironed out on the drawing board," said the contractor who became a pioneer specialist in installing electric heat.

"It's not yet four years since electric heat came on the market in a mass way . . . yet it's popularity has outstripped all predictions. You buy the nearest thing to perfection this side of heaven . . . and you come pretty close to getting it when you live in a home that's completely heated by electricity. It's so far ahead of anything else in precision you just have to experience it to believe it. That's why it's been said that users of electric heat are the best 'salesmen' for it.

"Sure the winter wind and the winter inconveniences make you think in terms of something ideal in the way of a heating system. Maybe you think it hasn't been invented yet! Well, it has . . . and let me tell you — you'll never believe this on an icy day of course—but, honestly, you'll appreciate electric heating just as much in the summer.

"Why?"

"Well, a proper electric-living house is 'properly' insulated to begin with. So right off, you have a shield against unfriendly outer elements.

"The very structure of the house is you might say 'positive' . . . it's working for you, not against you. Then when you add electric heat you have precision as well as warmth. In the summer, maybe what you want is just a toe-warmer bathroom on a rainy morning. But winter?"

"Your well built electrically-heated house is like Montego Bay in prime season indoors when it's minus zero with a 25-mile north wind outside."

"Incidentally, if you started wrong, it's not too late. Experienced contractors can expedite conversations to electric heat at any season.

QUESTION BOX

Q. A few months back I saw something in a magazine about a house belonging to a family down South that now has electrical heat. It seems to me the write-up

UP-DATE... ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of by-gone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home heating.

said the temperature was 25 below zero. I've been wondering about this since. Could I possibly have mis-read it and it's really 25 above?

A. There's a good chance that you're referring to an Edison Electric Institute's information advertisement published nationally in September. In this case 25 below is the right recollection about the temperature. But "southern" for the state is relative. It depends where you are now. Because the Cline family, whose experience was quoted, live in West Virginia. And as Mr. Cline pointed out, people THINK of West Virginia as pretty far south whereas they regularly must cope with temperatures of 15 to 25 below zero.

A more significant part of their report, from our point of view, is that the Clines were in a unique position to evaluate the superiority of electricity as fuel.

They're living in a hundred year old house . . . It was built in Civil War days. "With electric heat," he says, "it almost seems as though we're living in a completely new home . . . considering everything it does for us. I figure electric heat is probably the best heating bargain I've ever seen."

We're also delighted to note that the Clines went about it the right way. They went along with the advice to put in better insulation.

Q. Can you tell me where I can get a copy of the article that says electric heating is good for house plants?

A. We've paired the answering of your question with the one above because we believe the same picture feature was the inspiration for both.

We know of no detailed article about electric heating and house plants. However, the September feature quoted the flat statement of a housewife who was enumerating the benefits she found in having converted her hundred year old home to electric heating. "Walls, curtains and floors stay clean with hardly any work at all," she said, adding "even my house plants do better now that we have electric heat."

RETIRED OR NEW COUPLE?
Here is a compact home with Cape Cod candor and charm, yet it is not so large as to make house- keeping a real chore. Living room with fireplace, 2 bedrooms, new bath. Large, family-style kitchen with sliding glass doors opening into an enclosed porch. Great shade trees in the back yard, and hedges and a fence for privacy. Immediate occupancy.
(sole agent) $24,500

IN THE BOROUGH . . . on one of Princeton's quietest tree-lined streets, this beautiful Contemporary home has a large living room with fireplace, a study, separate dining room and a very modern work area with kitchen and laundry. The bedroom wing has master bedroom with dressing room and bath, and two other bedrooms and bath. Living areas are spacious and designed to give full scope to your talents as a decorator. This is a very special home in one of the most desirable parts of the Western Section. (sole agent) $58,000

HANDSOME one-story Colonial residence of whitewashed brick — perhaps the finest small home available in Princeton. Only a pleasant stroll away from the village, its spacious living room with fire- place, the paneled study, the large dining room, the generous size of the 2 bedrooms and 2 baths — everything about this superb prop- erty will appeal to the discrim- inating people who can move into such a home when they decide to live in Princeton. Large lot, mag- nificent trees, fenced grounds, cen- tral air-conditioning. $72,000

LIKE TO ENTERTAIN? . . . here is a fine home with a large (33) living room, and a fireplace, and a very efficient kitchen with plenty of space for informal fam- ily meals. 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, plus a large screened porch and a 2-car garage. This fine property is located on a country road in one of our most attractive neigh- boring communities, only 4 miles from the center of Princeton. 1 acre of land — and that has been professionally landscaped to pro- vide lots of ground cover and a minimum of yard work. $40,000

TWO ACRES . . . high on the Sourland mountain, in a really rural setting, yet only a short drive from ETS and a few other large research labs. The house is brand new, and a lot of planting remains to be done outdoors, but here is a beautifully built home with great potential. 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, large living room with fireplace that also serves the family room next door. Kitchen is a house- keeper's dream. 3-car garage. $34,500

DUTCH COLONIAL . . . once again, this charming traditional style is returning to our landscape. And here is a new house on a high and dry acre in the nicest part of a nearby community. Foyer, living room, dining room, pow- der room, kitchen and laundry, family room . . . plus 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. So far, every house in this locality has been sold as soon as it was finished, and we don't ex- pect this one to be available for long. $41,500
